ECKELS RATTLED OVER HIS DEFEAT

HOW MATTERS STAND IN OTHER STATES Iowa Today Will Vote for Boies and

Free Coins ge-Kentucky Bimetalists Making Headway. Chicago, May 19 .- (Special.)-The smallest man in Illinois today is young Mr.

Eckels, who serves the national administration as comptroller of the currency. Ottawa was the home of the young man when the president discovered him When the states were laid off for conquest by cabinet officers, Eckels claimed that he should have equal recognition and that to him should be assigned the duty of saving Illinois to the gold standard. It was felt that Senator Palmer, elected to the United States senate by the granger votes, had slobbered too profusely on the other side, and that Eckels, having no record, could better do the work of pulling the wool over the eyes of the people. Conseof his master, consecrated to the task, and a few days ago he began by an effort to save his own home county. Illinois, filled with people naturally demo cratic, was one of the hardest states tobring within control of the party. It was the state which had given Grant to the union armies, and fidelity to Blackjack Logan counted for much. It was when the financial question began to take prominence that her people became aroused and sent the present vice president to congress as a greenbacker. This rural movement broke the chains of sectionalism and six years ago the democrats, through assistance from these sources, swept the state and sent Palmer to the senate In the national election two years later John P. Altgeld reached the governor's office, enabling the state to cast its first vote for a democratic president. The story which followed is but a repetition of what has been witnessed in nearly every other state in the union. Voters were enraged to find men whom they had placed in public station betray them. In this state treason to the people was intensified, for there have been local issues in which the iron hand of federal interference was felt Of all her public men one at least proved true, and that was Governor Altgeld.

Altgeld's Success. state assumed to deliver it to the goldbug de Governor Altgeld placed himself in the breach and challenged the fight. He has already whipped out the ringsters in the city of Chicago, which names one-third of the delegates to the state convention. As county after county acted, it declared for Altgeld and free coinage and the campaign reached such a stage that it looked as if the silver men would have a walkover. It was in this emergency that Eckels made his appearance upon the scene. With bulging with gold, with all the influence of nim. The mass meeting was composed of 500 men. The free coinage men were led by Attorney General Moloney, who scored the Wall street emissary in scathing terms.

The vote was taken and silver won a victory. Eckels was greatly rattled over his Fulton, Morgan, Fayette, Clark, Platt and other counties have added their names to the free coinage list. Jefferson county not only instructed for silver, but denounced the financial policy of the president in un stinted terms. Illinois will cast her full vote for the free coinage of silver.

Gold men are looked upon here as repub licans. Out of the 1,000 delegates to the Illinois state convention, it is not possible Their only chance to go over that figure is by capturing Chicago, but that is new impossible. Even if that was done, the free coinage men would still have a large working majority.

"Will the administration be able to play the Michigan game on you?" was asked of Attorney General Moloney, the man who sat down so heavily upon Mr. Eckels.

Only True Men on the Works. Vo, sir," he replied, with emphasis. "We have been warned in time, and only tried men are being sent to the convention. The proxy business is not escaping the eyes of so sharp a man as Governor Altgeld. We are proud of our governor, because he i

Up this way the country is fairly alive with politics. The republicans are for gold the democrats are for silver and the administration is playing a losing game.

Iowa by more than a two-thirds vote o her state convention will vote for free coin age and Boies tomorrow. The gold men there have given up the fight, so far as the convention is concerned and are to night at work trying to manipulate or bolt. The only ground upon which they can do this will be the foregone action of the con vention in adopting the unit rule, thus compelling the entire delegation to vote for free coinage. Whatever doubt has heretofore existed in Kentucky is speedily vanishing. Governor Stone, of Missouri, spoke in Frankfort today, drawing such enthusiasm for Joe Blackburn that the state is ablaze with his name tonight.

From the way in which the county cor ventions of Ohio have been acting for the past few days, it would appear as if Senator Brice might as well go on and take his European trip. There will be no seat for him in the national convention.

Those who want to be in with triumphan democracy had better get on the band wagin time. The banners are flying and the instructed for free coinage the gold men concede 298. Outside of Cook county the free coinage men have absolute control, for the people are for bimetallism and will brook no sort of interference from the office holding cohorts of Mr. Cleveland, and the most desperate fight yet made by the gold men outside of Cook county was that yesterday in LaSalle county, Illinois, where James H. Eckels, comptroller of the curclaims his home. For a week Eckels has deserted his official duties and fought for an indorsement of Cleveland and the gold standard. Unable to stop the victorious adherents of a prosperity-giving money system the gallant administration gold leader led an inglorious bolt.

The bolt of yesterday was from the caucus of Lasalle county. But this caucus is the one that names the delegates to be voted for at the primaries. When the cau cus refused to name uninstructed delegates, leaving only four hundred and fifty dele gates to continue the caucus work.

It was an out and out unqualified bolt. But the real situation as to the demo cratic party in Illinois is precarious. The gold men in Cook county, coached from Washington, no longer conceal the fact that if Cook county goes for free coinage at the primaries there will be a bolt. In fact, arrangements are under way so that the bolt can be launched without unnecessary splashing. A. A. Goodrich, W. A. Vincent and R. E. Spangle are now at work on the organization of a gold standard state central committee. They have been authorized to select two gold democrats from each congressional district to serve on a committee to oppose that of a year ago they supported. The gold men will take no half measures. There will be a rump convention and a contesting delegation sent to the national STONE IN KENTUCKY.

THE GOVERNOR MAKES A SPEECH AT LEXINGTON.

Says That Kentucky Is Not Growing Presidential Timber at Present. He Hit Carlisle Good.

Frankfort Ky May 19 - (Special.) - The free colnage and Bland campaign in Kentucky was opened in this city tonight by Governor W. J. Stone, of Missouri, the chief henchman of Dick Bland, the Missouri candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

from all parts of the district being on hand The governor is a Kentuckian. He won the crowd by declaring that Kentucky had unlimited ability to promise, with pockets | furnished the last five governors of Missouri, but that Kentucky had never grown presidential timber. This was a heavy stab at Carlisle and Bradley, and won the crowd entirely.

Governor Stone showed that the position of the democratic party had always been one in favor of bimetallism and that Cleveland alone was responsible for the gold agitation in the party. He remarked, amid much laughter, that he believed five of the members of the cabinet were now gold men He knew that before they accepted office under Cleveland they were all free coinage men. He declared that when he was in congress in 1890 with Carlisle, that the present secretary of the treasury voted with which he had every reason to believe was written by President Grant, stating that he did not know there was such a clause in the bill.

Governor Stone was less violent and vi-tuperative than is Vest and Hardin. He said that the coinage law of 1792 remained upon the statute books substantially until

"There was no legal inhibition to the free coinage of both metals; there was no question about it, and it was not necessary for the national convention to give an ex-pression upon it."

Governor Stone will continue his tour speaking in Lexington and Richmond. He said to The Constitution representative that in his opinion, the Chicago convention would declare for bimetallism

PALMETTO STATE DEMOCRATS. Clans Gathering in Columbia for the State Convention Today.

Columbia, S. C., May 19.—The state convention of the democratic party assembles in Columbia at noon tomorrow.

The proceedings promise to be quite in-teresting, inasmuch as Senators Tillman and Irby and Governor Evans are members of the body. Today the city is full of del gates and they continue to arrive on every train. They are all about the capitol and here and there groups are discussing the outlook.

Tillman will arrive tonight and will go to the executive mansion. Irby is also to arrive tonight. All indications are that Tillman and Evans will control the convention absolutely and that no delegate will be sent to Chicago who is not willing to leave the hall in case anti-free silver action is taken by that body. The platform will be prepared this evening and will be in accordance with the repeatedly expressed views of Senator Tillman on the money question. It is pretty well settled that Tillman and Evans will be two of the delegates at large, with W. O. D. Evans as a possible third.

Irby is to be on hand and will doubtless make a fight, but all the indications point to his defeat. Ex-Comptroller General Ellerbe is here shaking hands with the delegates. He is regarded as the next governor of South Carolina, though Mr. A. H. Patterson, of Barnwell, it is understood, will oppose him.

The understanding is now that Mr. Patterson, is to be chairman of the convention tomorrow. No other name is mentioned in connection with the position.

Washington, May 19.-(Special.)-As stated in these dispatches last night he would do, Congressman Josiah Patterson today forwarded to Congressman Bailey a formal letter declining to divide time at Atlanta, or in any way engage in joint debate with the eloquent young Texan upon the monetary question.

The fact is Patterson does not care to engage in an unequal test. He is no maten in debate for Bailey, and no one is more thoroughly aware of it than the representative from Memphis. Balley is an orator, one of the very few in congress whose title to that designation is freely admitted by men of all parties. No wonder, therefore, Patterson does not care to meet him in joint discussion. He tried that sort of thing with Money and John Allen, of Mississippi, and got decidedly the worst of it. Learning by experience, he refuses Bailey

The River and Harbor Bill. It is expected that the river and harbor bill will come out of conference tomor row. If it does, it will pass and reach the president this week. He will then have ten days in which to sign or vetoe it, and if he does neither it will become a law anyhow. This latter has been his plan of meeting river and harbor bills in the past.

With the other appropriation bills out of the way, there will be nothing to keep congress here beyond, say the 10th of fune, unless some measure which will lead to a political debate gets in the way. There is some talk that the president will send in a financial message. It would, of course, not lead to any positive legislative action, but it would serve as a peg on which to hang a political debate, and might easily keep congress here all summer.

There are signs that the goldbugs among he senators want to hold the session until after the national conventions. They say they do not want to bring this about, but ome of them are acting very curiously, They seem to think that they can gain some partisan advantage for the yeliow metal by being eher after the conventions have acted. They have no programme so far, their policy being apparently to stand in readiness to take advantage of anything that will enable them to accomplish

The speech of the last named gentleman was eloquent, and judging from the attention given it effective. The extent of the applause would indicate that none of the proposed, measures will meet the approval of a majority of the house. At 5:06 p. m. the house adjourned. The business of the house was seriously retarded by the breaking of a violent storm over the capitol, which drew nearly all the members from the hall. They repaired to the balcony on the south front, where they could under protection witness the sweep of the elements over the capitol park and the section of country south to the hills in Maryland.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL. The Appropriations to the Louisiana and Mobile Section.

Washington, May 19 .- After a protracted struggle the conferees on the river and harbor bill arrived at a conclusion today for the appropriation for the Bayou Plaquemine and Catcascu rivers, Louisiana. the outright appropriation of cash was increased to $80,000. The senate increase in the improvement of the harbor at Mobile was retained and agreed to, after much discussion. The senate conferees were not so fortunate, however, in the Brunswick improvement, for they had to yield on that and let the house provisions stand. The contract forwinyaw bay was permitted to stand, but the cash appropriation was reduced from $75,000 to $50,000.

Senate Committee Ordered a Favorable Report on the Nominations. Washington, May 19.—The senate comnittee on pensions today ordered a favor of D. I. Murphy, of Pennsylvania, to be commissioner of pensions and Napoleon J. Dana, of New Hampshire, to be first deputy commissioner of pensions. No protest was made against this action save two newspaper clippings, in which it was stated that Murphy had discriminated against solders in the granting of pensions. On the contrary it was said in the committee that the newly-appointed com-missioner had always been liberal in his treatment of applications for pensions.

SICKLES SAYS SEND A FLEET AND PROTECT THE AMERICANS SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Declares Their Seizure To Be an Outrage Which This Country Cannot Tolerate.

Washington, May 19 .- (Special.)-General Daniel E. Sickles, of New York, who served for four years as minister to Spain. many years in congress, and is one of the best posted men in America on the laws of war, and international law, is a strong advocate of our interference in the Cuban situation

He thinks it the duty of our governmen to send a fleet to Cuba to protect our citizens.

"The sentence of the Competitor men, said he, "is an outrage. The president should send a fleet there at once and demand our citizens captured upon the Competitor. If Spain refused to give them up th evessels should clear for action. Spain denies there is war in progress. It loes not recognize the Cubans as belligerents. Yet its very act in trying the Competitor men by a prize court is an admission of the very thing Spain denies. Again, its act in declaring all corn and produce not deposited with the government in a limited time, to be contrabands of war, is a recognition of war.

"The time has come for the United States to interfere. It is but right and proper that we should do so. This talk of other European nations interfering is absurd. They recognize our right to interfere in the affairs of this island at our very door. But whether they did or not

"What right has Spain to sentence the men on a vessel taking goods to the island for sale, or gift, or anything else, to death? Could the United States sentence a Spaniard, or any one else, to death for attempting to land goods on our shores without paying duty-for smuggling? No nation on earth would submit to such reatment of its citizens. Why should the United States? It is time that we should have several naval vessels in Cuban waters o protect our citizens and see that they have proper treatment."

The sentiments expressed by General Sickles are indorsed by almost every one here. Yet Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Olney are dallying with the affair. Those not particularly friendly to the president think he is postponing vigorous action to a more opportune time, politically. They think he will act with vigor very soon. Undoubtedly the north Atlantic squadron has been in condition and under orders to be pre pared for movement and action upon a moment's notice. Not an officer is there on one of the vessels in New York harbor and Hampton Roads who is not at every moment expecting orders to move. Mr. Cleveland will unquestionably be heard from soon. "Within less than one year from date, said a naval officer tonight, "I expect to see the island of Cuba a part of the

Beasley applied for a postponement be cause of the absence of witnesses, but the application was denied by the court. After some difficulty a jury was impaneled and Mr. Beasley was put on the stand and testified that on December 16, 1895, the de-fendant, D. L. Snodgrass, had shot him while he was attending to some business in the office of Spurlock & Brown, in The Times building. He said that Snodgrass had first called him a liar, that he jumped to his feet and Snodgrass drew a pisto

Judge Snodgrass was put on the stand reflecting on his integrity as a judge; that he had decided to go to The Times office to ask for a correction and there being a number of men connected with the paper, and as he did not know but what they might "pitch him out a window," he had armed himself. That he called at Spurlock's office, Mr. Spurlock being The Times's attorney, to confer with him before going to The Times management about the article; that in Spurlock's office he had accidentally met Beasley; that he denounced him as a liar and a slanderer, and that Beasley made demonstration as though to draw his pistol and he shot him. He stated that the meeting with Beasley was purely accidental.

Several other witnesses were put on the and as he did not know but what they

was purely accidental.

Several other witnesses were put on the stand who could only testify as to the pistoi shots. No one saw the actual shooting at the moment it was done. J. A. Williams, a young man in Mr. Spurlock's office, saw Beasley jump to his feet, but was not certain that he made a feint as if to draw a pistol. Several witnesses were examined as to the fact of the shooting, but nothing of importance was elicited.

COAST DEFENSE CONVENTION. Tampa's Board of Trade Arranging for One in December.

na, Fla., May 19.-The board of trade of Tampa has announced its purpose to hold a gulf, harbor improvement and coast defense convention for the purpose of securing concerted action by all the important gulf ports for the advancement and protection of their commercial interests, the improvement of their harbors and the establishment of such fortifications and other means of defense as may become necessary. To this end invitations will be extended to the boards of trade of Galvescon, Sabine Pass, New Orleans, Mobile, Pensacola and Key West to meet in convention in Tampa about the middle of December next. Efforts will also be made to secure the attendance of members of the congressional committees controlling appropriations for such purposes. This action by the Tampa board of trade is the result of a conviction that by such concerted action conflicting interests may be harmonized and existing antagonisms allayed, and by united effort more can be accomplished for mutual benefit than by any other means. ortant gulf ports for the advancemen

KENNEDY'S DEFENSE

Will Be That Improper Relations Had Existed Between His Wife

AND WOOD FOR TWO YEARS

Kenedy's Counsel Intimates That Tem porary Insanity Will Be the Main Ground of Defense.

Montgomery, Ala., May 19 .- (Special.)-The stake closed this morning in the Kennedy-Wood case and the defense got well under way with its testimony.

Enough has developed to show the pian of precedure which the defense has adopted. Improper relations between Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. M. L. Wood were proved as far back as the summer of 1894, and the defense will undertake to show that these relations were kept up until the time of the tragedy. The evidence appears to indicate that the theory of Mr. Kennedy's temporary insanity will be the ground on which the defense will place its chief dependance.

Court was called to order at 10:15 this

J. H. Lumpkin was the first witness and he took the stand at 10:55. He testified: "I live in Selma and am the chief of police. Was here on the morning Percy Wood was shot; was in front of the Exchange hotel; I went to the depot in a hack. Percy Wood was lying on the platform; I stayed a few moments; had a conversation with Percy Wood. He told me he had been shot in the back by Kennedy. He said he did not know Kennedy was within fifty miles of him. He said he was going to die and asked me to look after Mardis. I did not see any weapon about him. He was lying on the platform; his head was in the di-rection of the window. I saw him again at the Windsor; he was then undressed. He asked me to send a telegram; asked me to say first that Mardis was wounded and then to say that both he and Mardis were wounded. I was not present when the effects of Percy Wood were turned over to for three years; I think he has been attending to the duties of the office." Cross: "Mr. Kennedy's office is at the courthouse; it is about half a mile from the business portion of the city. From the back they looked as much alike as two men of the same size would look. Mardis was possibly a little broader. Exept the difference in the cut of the coat they dressed very much alike. Re-direct—Percy Wood had lived in Selma all his life; Mardis lived in New Orleans for eighteen months before the shooting, but claimed Selma as his home. Both were well known to Mr. Kennedy, Percy Wood was a lawyer; Mards Wood was chief clerk in the office of my father, probate judge of Dallas county. His office was across the hall from the office of the sheriff. They, Mardis Wood and Mr. Kennedy, met at least once a day for 365 days of the year up to the time Mardis left Selma.

At this point, Solocitor Lomax stated that the state had three witnesses whom he might desire to introduce, one living in Mobile, one in Troy and the other in this city. If the court would allow these witnesses to testify the state would, he said, rest, but if the court would not allow this, the state would ask a reasonable recess to dllow the state to have these witnesses before the court.

Tisdale's Spicy Evidence. The first witness for the defense was James W. Tisdale. He said: 'I live at Livingston; am a hotel man and livery stable keeper. I have known Mardis Wood about fifteen years. I have known Mrs. Kennedy since 1878. She stopped at Wood about fifteen years. I have known Mrs. Kennedy since 1878. She stopped at my house two years ago in June. Livingston is a summer resort. Visitors come there for dyspepsia and liver trouble. I have known Mardis Wood and Mrs. Kennedy to be in Livingston at the same time. She came to my house with her husband on the night of the 28th or 29th of June, 1894. Her husband left on Saturday night. On Monday morning Mr. Wood came and remained until Friday at 11 p. m. Mr. Kennedy came Saturday night at 11 o'clock. During the time Mr. Wood said there he paid Mrs. Kennedy a great deal of attention. He was in room No. 2: Mrs. Kennedy was in room No. 3. The rooms adjoined and had a door op-ning between them. On the return of Mr. Kennedy, on Saturday night he staid until Monday morning and returned to Selma. A day or so afterwards Mr. Wood came back. He did not register and I registered him and placed him in room No. 6. This did not please him and he had his baggage removed to room No. 2. I had it moved back to room No. 6. I talked to Mrs. Kennedy about her conduct with Wood and told her that she was clipping it along at too lively a gait for a married woman, and that if she did not stop it would cause talk. She made some light reply. I talked with Mardis Wood about this mater. He approached me and asked if I was a Mason. I replied 'No,' and he talked to me about Mrs. Kennedy celling me that she had heard some talk about herself and he tid me on his honor as a man, or as a Mason—I do not know which—that he had never done anything wrong in my house. I told him that I was glad to know it, for if I found out that he did I would surely put him out of the house.

"Wood and Mrs. Kennedy were together every day during the time they were at my house. I spoke of Mrs. Kennedy and Wood to several gentlemen from Selma before the shooting. I also told of the conversation with Mardis Wood, but the conversation with Mardis Wood, but the conversation with Mardis Wood and Mrs. Kennedy occupied room No. 3 all the time she was there. Mr. Wo my house two years ago in June. Living

There was a door between these rooms. No. 6 was on the other side of the hall."

Cross-examination—I am friendly to Mr. Kennedy; the key between rooms Nos. 2 and 3 was in the door; I did not take it out; I suspected Mr. Wood and Mrs. Kennedy of illicit connection; their actions caused this suspicion; they might also have enjoyed illicit relations during their walks or drives; my conversation with Wood, which I repeated to Mr. Marshall and Mr. Bender, was not a confidential talk; Mr. Wood told me that he and Mrs. Kennedy had never had any criminal relations in my house; Mr. Kennedy when he returned never looked over the register, to my knowledge; he did not know what room Mr. Wood occupied.

Mr. C. T. Rone testified: I live in Livingston; I saw them together in Livingston; I saw them together in Livingston; I saw them walking around and in a buggy twice; I saw them together on one occasion in the outskirts of the town near the railroad; they were on the east side of the emi-ankment about forty yards from the road; it was late in the evening; they were under some shade trees; she was sitting on the ground; he was lying on the ground and his head rested in Mrs. Kennedy's lap; I told this circumstances to Mr. Tisdale. Mr. Steve Smith and Dr. J. P. Nash, both well known citizens of Livingston, testified that the conduct of Mr. Wood and Mrs. Kerned; was unbecoming and was such as to crea'e public gossip while at Livingston. The witnesses swore that they were constantly together in their walks and drives, their visits to the cemetery, the mineral well, etc. G. W. Dainwood, postmaster at Livingston, testified that Mr. Wood and Mrs. Kennedy constantly communicated with each other through the mails when Wood was absent from her. Afternoon Session. habit cure No-To-Bac, famous all over the country for its wonderful cures. This offer, it is said, was made by parties who desire to take it off the market and stop the sale, because of its injury to the tobacco business. General Manager Kramer, of No-To-Bac, when interviewed at his office, No. 45 Randolph street, said:

"No, sir, No-To-Bac is not for sale to the tobacco trust. Certainly No-To-Bac affects the tobacco business. It will cure over 200,000 people in 1896, at an average saving of $50 which each would otherwise expend for tobacco, amounting in round figures to $10,000,000. Of course, tobacco dealers' loss is gained by the cured. Does No-To-Bac benefit physically? Yes, sir. The majority of our patients report an immediate gain of flesh, and their nicotine saturated systems are cleansed and made vigorous. No-To-Bac is sold by druggists throughout the United States and Canada under absolute guarantee that three boxes will cure any case. Failure to cure means the money back. Of course, there are failures, but they are few, and we can better afford to have the good will of an occasional failure than the money. HAD A LONG TRIP FOR NOTHING

The Local Authorities Are Greatly Disappointed-What Chief Connolly Says.

The man supposed to be Will Myers, who has been held in a Missouri jail awaiting identification for several days, is not the murederer of Forrest Crowley. Deputy Sheriff Greene, who was sent to Bosworth by Sheriff Barnes to bring back the prisoner, if he was Myers, reached his destination about 9 o'clock yesterday morning and immediately proceeded to the jail. As soon as he saw the man under arrest he knew that he was not the escaped prisoner, and there was not a more disappointed man in Missouri than he.

He went at once to the telegraph office and wired Sheriff Barnes, in Atlanta, that the man was not Will Myers. The message came to the Western Union office bout 1 o'clock and was carried over to the sheriff's office a few minutes later. Sheriff Barnes was not in his office at the time, and the dispatch was received by Deputy Blount, who was not greatly surprised at the contents, as he had neve thought that Myers had been captured.

Officer Carlisle was also attending to the same cuty in Chief Connolly's office at the police station, and he also had very little rest during the day. The report that Myers had been captured had caused widespread interest over the city, and everybody was eager to learn if the right man had been caught.

Chief Connolly received no message from the Missouri authorities to the effect that they had the wrong man, but he did reseive a telegram from the town marshal. TWO BISHOPS AT LAST.

The Methodists at Cleveland Made an Election Yesterday.

Cleveland, O., May 19.-Bishop Bowman, the venerable senior bishop of the Metho-dist church, presided over the general nference, probably for the last time, this morning. This is the sixteenth day of the conference. None of the great questions to be settled by the conference have yet een discussed on the floor.

The great questions of time limit, lay epresentation, amusements, temperance, ecognition of Methodist Christian Endeavor societies, foreign Episcopal residences. location of Episcopal residences in the United States, and many other equally United States, and many other equally important questions are yet to come up. "Are you sure that the remedy offered is good for the patient?" asked Rev. Dr. Buckley. "What is our situation? Three men have already had a majority of the votes cast and one man came within thirty or forty votes of being elected. To postpone this election would make this in the eyes of the world. In one of the dioceses of the Protest Episcopal church, they have taken fifty and sixty ballots and then adjourned for six months to think it over, without an election. And yet the election of a Methodist bishop carries with it more power than a dozen. ries with it more power than a dozen Protestant diocesian bishops. The remedy is this: Let the voting go on until we elect a bishop or until it becomes plainly apparent that we cannot elect anybody."

Fifty men tried to get the floor at once. Perfect Bedlam prevailed and Bishop Bowman was unable to maintain order. A ballot was ordered. SWUNG FROM A LIMB. A Negro Quickly Disposed of in a Town Near New Orleans.

New Orleans, May 19.-This morning's early pedestrians who happened to pass the courthouse and jail in St. Bernard parish were horrified to see swaying in the breeze the body of a man. The news quickly spread and many hundreds viewed the grewsome specticle. Sheriff Nunez was informed and hastening to the scene immediately ordered the body cut down and took it in charge. This was done and it was seen that the distorted features, made hideous by Judge Lynch's swift justice, were those of Jim Dazzle alias Jim Glemley, a negro. The news reached the city limit last evening from St. Bernard parish that a ne gro had attempted to ravish a white woman Sunday morning in front of the Poydras plantation. The news of the attempted outrage spread throughout the parish and in a short while every one was on the trail of the ravisher. The victim is a married woman named Mrs. Moleso. She formerly resided at Delacroix island, which is about thirty miles below the city. A short while ago she moved to the Poydras plantation along with her family. Mrs. Moleso accompanied by her younger sister and child proceeded to an adjoining plantation. While on the way they met the negro and when he got near the ladies, the brute seized Mrs. Moleso before she could realize his intentions. The woman screamed for aid and was heard by a man in a road cart, who, suspecting the ladies were in trouble, hastened to the scene and arrived just in time to see the negro escape, and gave chase. The negro was captured and placed in the parish prison of St. Bernard, which is located in Terre-aux-Boeufs.

Singular Nervous Condition of a Michigan Woman Which Lasted Two Years.

From The Detroit, Mich., Journal. Mrs. H. G. Sawitzky, living at Fraser, Mich., was peculiarly afflicted for two years with a nervous trouble for which science has seemingly no name. A porter who recently called upon porter who recently called upon Mrs. Sawitzky received from her lips the following account of her interesting case:

"After the birth of one of my children I falled to rally; I seemed completely run down, and could not get any strength. I was unable to sleep and so nervous that it seemed as if I must keep moving all the time. For two years I suffered in this way. I would walk around all night, never being able to get any rest before 4 o'clock. I was in no special pain except slight attacks during the night in my legs.

"I saw an advertisement in one of the papers for Dr. Williams's Pink Pilis and precured a bex. I had only taken a few when I felt better. I could rest better at night and did not feel so restless during the day. I continued taking them until I had used two boxes. Gradually my strength returned and I was completely cured. After about six months I had a slight attack of the grippe. I got another box of the pills and began taking them. My grip disappeared and I am well are hearty."

Mrs. Sawitzky has a pleasant country home, which she attends to herself. She is the picture of health and contentment. Dr. Williams' Pink Pilis contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfalling specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus diance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness, either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady. Sawitzky received from her lips the fol

Probable That Republican and Populist Conventions Will Meet Together.

INFORMAL PROPOSITION MADE

Opposition to Buck May Cause a Split in the State Campaign-What Smythe Says.

A call will probably be issued in a few days for the state republican convention at which time all of the statehouse of ficers will be nominated.

In pursuance with this delegates will be chosen from the various counties and the republicans will gather to begin their state campaign.

From the present outlook there is every eason to believe that the republican convention will be coincidental with that of the populists, and that the two conventions will be held here upon the same day. There is every reason to believe that fusion will occur and informal negetiations are now perding. It is said that the proposition has come from the leaders of the third party and that they offer to divide if the republicars will combine. It is known that the republicars of Fulton will unite with the populists in the county campaign, but whether this fusion will be roader will not be determined until the two conventions meet. *
While no day has been fixed for the state convention, it is caid that Tom Watson has proposed August 10th and that the What Major Smyth Says.

Major W. H. Smythe, who is in charge of the republican headquarters in this city, was seen yesterusy. "I do not know just when the state ention will be held," he said. convention will be nearly ne said. I have heard August suggested, but I think no day has been definitely fixed. Yes, it is our purpose to put out candidates for every office in the statehouse as well as for congress in every district. What about fusion with the convilers? Well I have heard with the populists? Well, I have heard that spoken of. I don't think that anything has been finally settled upon. There do not. "Several propositions have, I understand, been made, but no conclusion has been reached. Colonel Buck Opposes It. Colonel Buck is opposed to the fusion of the parties on the state issues. He says platforms of the two parties and that he loes not believe fusion will be made on catate issues.

Colonel Buck will soon corral the Mc Kinley delegates and take them on to the St. Louis convention, which assembles on the 17th of next month. The Georgia delethe 17th of next month. The Georgia dele-gation will consist of twenty-five McKin-ley men and five keed delegates.
"I would not be surprised," said Major Smythe yesterday, in speaking of the prob-able action of the St.; Louis convention, to see Reed come down. I believe that to ser Reed come down. I believe that both he and Morton would yield to Mc-Kinley, as they were not bolstered up by that eastern element made up of Quay and Platt and all that crowd.

"I believe that as the vote now stands McKinley will surely go in on the second ballot. He has already enough votes to assure that." May Be a Split.

There may be a split in the fight among the republicans for statehouse offices. It the republicans for statehouse offices. It will be remembered that at the recent state convention held for the purpose of selecting St. Louis delegates there was radical division in the ranks of the party and an element swore to "down Buck or bust the party." This opposition came from the younger negroes who thought that Buck had been in the ascendency long enough.

There is still flerce antagonism to the leader in the state from certain parties and

A telegram was received yesterday by a prominent member of the junta giving news of the safe landing of the expedition, but as is usual in such cases, neither Senor Estrada Palma nor Dr. Castillo liked to confirm the report until they received a cable from the manager of the expedition dated from the port to which the steamer will proceed after leaving her cargo in the hands of the patriot army. The Laurnda expedition is considered by Cubans, as well as by Spaniards, the most important which has sailed from this country to aid the patriots. It is now an open secret that the Spanish consul, Baldasano, sent a long dispatch to General Weyler when the expedition sailed, in which he stated that it was a formidable one and that he had been prevented from detaining the steamer at New York by the fact that it was Sunday and he could not obtain a warrant. The Laurada expedition cost the junta $120,000. tion, but as is usual in such cases, neither

ARCHDUKE CHARLES DEAD.

He Was Very Popular and His Death Creates General Sorrow.

Vienna, May 19.—Archduke Charles Louis, of Austria, brother of Emperor Francis Joseph, died this morning. Dispatches from Buda-Pesth say the announcement of his death has created a feel-ing of sorrow throughout Hungary, where e archduke is very popular, and has cast a shade of sadness over the celebration of Hungary's millennium.

The principal celebration, which was to take place Ane 8th, has been postponed and a period of mourning officially ordered. Archduke Charles Louis was born July 30, 1833. Archduke Charles Louis's second son, Archduke Otto Francis Joseph, is now regarded as the heir to the Austro-Hunga-rian throne, his elder brother, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, who became the heir to the throne after the suicide of Archduke Rudolph, prince imperial, in January, 1889, and the abdication of his father, being incurably ill, and consequently incapacitated from succeeding to the throne

TWO LITTLE ONES LOSE THEIR LIVES

Horrible Accident to Children in South Georgia.

THEY RUSHED ON THE TRACK

To Get a Chicken a Train Had Run

THE FREIGHT TRAIN HAD BROKEN IN TWO

The Children Not Knowing This Were Struck by (Second Section-A Third One Was Injured.

Rochelle, Ga., May 19 .- (Special.)-A horrible accident happened two miles east of this place today at 2 o'clock p. m.

Freight train No. 34, on the Georgia and Alabama railroad, ran over three of Section Foreman J. W. Crawley's children, killing two of them instantly and seriously injuring the third one.

The freight was running at the usual speed and in some way broke in two just before reaching the section house, which is located on a steep grade. The front part of the train ran by the section house and killed a chicken in passing and the children, not knowing the other section was following close behind, ran out to get the dead chicken.

One of the children, a little girl of seven years, carried an infant in her arms. The rear section came thundering down on them before they were aware of any danger whatever, and resulted in the death of the two older children.

The infant was thrown between the tracks and the cars passed over it, but did not kill it.

The mother stood not far away and was an eye witness to the affair. No blame can be attached to the railroad.

The father of the children was at his regular work, some four miles away, and was not aware of the terrible fate of his chil dren until a runner could reach him, some time after the occurrence.

He Fired on the Marshal-The Officer Shot the Negro in Self-Defense. Excitement Over the Affair.

Cochran, Ga., May 19 .- (Special.)-Cochran was thrown into a state of wild excitement this afternoon over the report of eight foud pistol shots, and as a result a negro lies in a state of uncertain life and City Marshal John R. Rogers congratulates himself over a narrow escape from death.

Gus Ashley, a desperate negro, stole several articles, including a fine pistol, from parties in Laurens, on Monday. He was tracked here today. Marshal Rogers attempted to arrest him.

Suddenly Ashley drew a pistol and began shooting at Rogers. He started on a run, but continued shooting at Rogers, who was forced to return the fire in self-defense. The negro was shot through the breast and thigh. A posse followed him, but be re-loaded is pistol. However, he was caught inside the limits and is now suffering intensely. The negro's first fire shot a hole

Rome, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The body of Rodney Arnott, known in Atlanta as Robert Dove, was discovered today about 100 yards below the point where he disap-peared Sunday. An examination disclosed the fact that his neck was broken, a co tusing on the head indicating that he struck a rock when he dived into the river. The body was buried this afternoon in Myrtle Hill cemetery. The mother is heartbroken over the death of her boy, her husband being away at some place unknown to her, he having been last heard from Charleston, S. C.

FIB NEAR WAYCROSS. Large Manufactory at Duke Damaged

by Flames. Waycross, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—Fire started about 3 o'clock this morning in the boiler room of the lumber mill of W. T. Lott & Co., at Duke, seven miles west Waycross, on the Waycross and Montgom-ery line of the Plant system. The boiler room was burned and the boilers were badly damaged. Had not the employes of the mill turned out and worked hard to ex-tinguish the fire, it would have spread to the sawmill, the dry kiln, the planing mill and the lumber yard.

At the first sound of the fire alarm every-body within a mile of the place was awakened, and scores of men were soon at the fire. A spark started in a pile of sawdust underneath the boiler and caught the timbers in the boiler room. A big blaze was in progress before any one discovered it. The night watchman had left the boiler room and gone to the tramway locomotives to fire them up, and had only been away about ten minutes when he saw the blaze He ran to the mill and about that tim pop-valve of the boiler was blown out The boiler was fired up before the blaze started and when the pop-valve became impractical the noise of the escaping steam was great. The mill had to shut down until repairs can be made. All the loss will be recovered from the insurance companies.

THE WELCOME AND RESPONSE

Uniformed Rank from the Leading Cities Present-The Grand Lodge Opens for Business.

Americus, Ga., May 19.-(Special.)-The wenty-seventh annual session of the grand odge of Georgia Knights of Pythias convened this morning, fully 800 Pyth ans atlending the conclave. The special train from Atlanta this morning brought the uniformed division from that city, Augusta, Savannah and Macon, the divisions from Albany, Brunswick and West Point having arrived last night. The visiting knights were met by Harman division of Americus, and escorted to their quarters at the Hotel

At 9 o'clock the First Regiment of the niform rank formed in front of the Windsor, and under command of Colonel R. F. Harman escorted the grand lodge to Glov er's opera house, where addresses of welcome were declared. The pageant was a brilliant one, thousands of people thronging the streets to witness the parade.

Addresses of Welcome. Assembling at the opera house Mayor Hixon, upon behalf of the city, delivered the ddress of welcome to the knights, his re marks being very happy and appropriate and elicited frequent applause. Grand Chan cellor Schatzman, of Macon, replied to May or Hixon's address, after which Colonel F A. Hooper, of Americus, welcomed the visitors upon behalf of George F. Cooper odge, Knights of Pythias. To this address Vice Grand Chancellor Cohen, of Augusta, replied in his happiest vein, his remarks receiving generous and prolonged applause.

A very happy feature of the occasion was the presentation by Supreme Representative Hamilton Douglas of the regimental colors, two beautiful flags, one the regulation colors of the order, and the other a magnificent United States flag, handsomely embroidered in silk and gold. The present tation speech was one of the most eloquent and patriotic ever delivered upon a similar occasion, as was that of Adjutant Rossignol, who received the flags upon behalf of

There are nine divisions of the uniform rank in attendance, the Brunswick division, perhaps, having the largest number, rank and file, though each division is well represented. The regiment gave a dress parade at 6 p. m. today, the splendid execution of every movement calling forth loud applause from the vast throng of spectators. At the opera house tonight the exemplification of the rank of knight was witness ed by a large number of Pythians, the exercises being both impressive and interest-ting Pythians, Mayor Hixon telling them ir. his address of welcome that the town was theirs; that the municipal authorities would take a back seat, and that the entire police force had been discharged for the time. Cooper lodge and Harmon di-vision, of this city, are keeping "oper nouse" and entertaining their guests in royal style.

A Barbecue Today. Tomorrow the visitors will enjoy a mor ster barbecue at Magnolia dell, prepara-tions having been made for 1,500 guests. The citizens of Americus will join in doing the honors and insuring a good time gener ally. The competitive drill of the uniformed ranks Thursday evening will be the event of the week, and is anticipated with great interest by the several divisions that

ROYAL ARCANUM COUNCIL. Delegates from All the States Are Now in Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., May 19.—The supreme ouncil of the Royal Arcanum will meet here tomorrow. Nearly all the officers and delegates arrived tonight. The reports of the supreme officers were given out today for publication in the morning. Hon. John E. Pound, of Lockport, N. A GOOD DELEGATON.

Columbus Kights of Pythias Go Down

To Americus. Columbus, Ga., May 19.—(Special.)—The Columbus delegation to the grand lodge of Knights of Pythlas at Americus, left of Knights of Pythlas at Americus, left this afternoon on a special train for that city. The train had been artistically decorated for the occasion and presented a handsome appearance. Besides the regular delegates from the two local lodges, there were quite a number of other sir knights along, and the delegation was a large and prominent one. Most of the party return home tomorrow morning. A few days ago Receiver Flournoy, of the Chattahoochee. National bank, now defunct, was authorized by the comptroller of the currency to pay the depositors of the bank 20 per cent of the amount due them. The necessary papers having been the bank 20 per cent of the amount due them. The necessary papers having been filed and other formalities gone through with, Mr. Flournoy today began the payment of one-fifth of their respective amounts deposited to the various depositors. About $30,000 will be paid to the depositors in this manner, and the city will be benefited considerably by the letting loose of this amount.

Mr. J. Lewis Browne, an organist of national reputation and who is at present the organist at the great cathedral of St. James, Toronto, has accepted the position of organist of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

Was Sitting on the Edge of the Bridge When He Lost His Balance and Fell Into the River.

Macon, Ga., May 19.-(Special.)-The prompt work of Messrs, A. J. Womack and John Hubbard saved Mr. M. Deegan, of Savannah, from a watery grave in the Ocmulgee this morning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Deegan's family resides in Savannah but he has been living in Macon several nonths engaged in the cotton business. He weighs about 200 pounds. He was crossing he city bridge at the foot of Fifth street, and being quite warm from the hot weather sat upon the edge of the bridge to cool He lost his balance and fell a distance of twenty-five feet, striking upon the water on his back with great force. He fell in four feet of water, near the middle peer and was rendered senseless. The body for moment was completely submerged, and then reappeared, and commenced floating down stream. Mr. A. J. Womack, Mr. John Hubbard and others were at work repairing the bridge. Mr. Womack saw Mr. Deegan as he was falling and Mr. Womack alling to Mr. Hubbard, ran to the river's edge, and Messrs. Womack and Hubbard got into a boat, paddled out into the river and rescued Mr. Deegan after he had sank twice beneath the waters. With great diffi-culty he was placed in the boat and brought to land about 200 yards from the bridge from which he fell. The patrol wa-gon was summoned and he was taken to the city hall. Medical aid was summone and the work of resuscitation commenced. After some effort Mr. Deegan was revived and his life saved. Mr. Deegan has made many friends during his stay in Macon. He ish authorities Thousands of Cubans in Florida will be thrown out of employment if there is no Cuban manufacture, and having nothing to do, these Cubans will go over to Cuba native land. It is the general opinion that General Wevler has made a bad move in issuing any such order. His object was, no doubt, to throw the Cubans in this country out of employment and thus reduce their ability to aid the cause of the insurgents financially, but while he may succeed in this he will, in reality, have strengthened the Cuban army to extent and brought the victory of professional course. "I am," said he, "in thorough sympathy with the good work being done by the consecrated men and women laboring for the uplifting of your race. It is one of the noblest works in the world. I am glad they are laboring to dignify the profession of teaching. I congratulate you young people on the success of your ef-forts to fit yourselves to do what I regard as the best work in the world, that of teaching. Now, go out to your people and a mysterious way His wonders to perform."

Having heard one of the graduates of Speiman give an essay entitled, "A Plea for Reformation," he alluded to it, saying: "There are people in Georgia heartily in favor of trying to reclaim youthful offenders. No governor alone can do this; my distinguished predecessor, ex-Governor Northen, more than once called the attention of the legislature to the subject.

"Let the people elect men in favor of such effort, and you will find such reformatories as you have just heard of existing in the state of Georgia." For some few minutes the governor went on, and gave an address abounding in the good advice, sincere commendation and words of counsel which characterize the utterances of Georgia's patriotic head.

The audience of twenty-five hundred voices then sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and Dr. Gibson gave the benediction, and another year was added to the history of two of the best schools for negro youth in the southern states.

THE MAN IS INSANE

Edgar L. Landrum Under Arrest in Washington City.

HE ONCE LIVED IN ATLANTA Was a Railway Mail Clerk Eleven

Years-Was Once in the Asylum. Edgar L. Landrum, the unfortunate young man from Atlanta who caused a sensation in Washington several days ago by proposing to a pretty telegraph operator at first sight, has been arrested by the authorities in the capital city and is being held on the charge of lunacy. Landrum is well known here a mail agent on the Atlanta and West Point, railroad between Atlanta and New Orleans for about eleven years. He has a host of friends in this city who will be pained to learn of his sad misfortune. The escapades of the unfortunate young man since he has been in Washington prove beyond a doubt that he is insane. He was registered at the Shoreham hotel, and on the evening of his arrival he called at the hone of Miss Rena Duval, a postal

After entering the parlor he handed Miss Duval a letter, making profuse love to her and requesting her to be his wife. The brother of the young lady induced Landrum to leave the house, but he called again in the morning with a carriage, when the police were notified, and he is now under arrest on the charge of insanity. Well Known in Atlanta. Edgar Landrum is well known in Atlanta, especially in postoffice circles, where he has many friends. He was a member of the force of railway mail clerks, his run, being between Atlanta and New Orleans, and his work was always well done during his service. He worked in this position from 1884 to January of 1895, when he was dismissed for disobeying an important order.

A few weeks before his dismissal there, was a bad wreck on the road near Newnen. Landrum was on duty on the trainceming to Atlanta, which was unable to proceed farther than Newnan on account of the debris on the track.

Landrum received an order to work the south-bound mall and to turn back to New Orleans, which he absolutely ignored. He did turn back to New Orleans, but rode in a Pullman sleeper, paying no attention to the mail. This neglect of duty lost him his job, and he was lost sight of by the postoffice officials until he turned up in Washington a few days ago.

Landrum's mind has not the found of many years. While his work was satisfactory during his connection with the mail service, yet he was somewhat eccentric and at times his actions were adjudged rather peculiar by his associates.

Was Once in the Asylum. January of 1895, when he was dismissed

Was Once in the Asylum. Was Unce in the Asylum.

It has lately come to light that Landrum was at one time demented before he entered the mail service and was confined in the asylum for a good period. He lived at Fairburn before he came to Atlanta and is of a good family. He married a Miss Lawshe, of Gaireeville, several years ago, but the couple were afterwards divorced. It is not brown what disposition will be made of Landrum by the Washington authorities.

A Tempest in a Teapot. The gold contractionists are making what seems to be a tremendous effort to ommit the democratic party of Fulton ounty to the single gold standard. There is a good deal of fluttering among he cuckoos, and a great stir among those whose interests are helped by dear money, falling prices and hard times. It is claimed, we believe, by those who are carrying on this campaign in Fulton, that it will be a great feather in the caps of certain politicians if they can succeed in committing the financial doctrines. That, of course, can't be done. The democrats of Fulton county are just as true to party principles as the democrats of any other section of the state, and they will repudiate the single gold standard and its ruinous results by a tremendous majority.

democratic party of Fulton to republican

But let us suppose that the contrary is the fact. Let us, for the sake of argum it, enter into the realm that be ongs to the writers of fiction, and imigine that the democratic voters of Atanta are ready to indorse, by a large lajority, the wreck and ruin caused by he single gold standard. In what sort of position would the city of Atlanta be placed by sending a gold standard delegation to a state convention made up of an overwhelming majority of democrats e bitterly opposed to the gold standard now as they were when they first began to feel the effects of the clandestine demonetization of silver? It is conceded by the most rampant gold men in the state that the democratic convention to be held in Macon will be in the hands of democrats who are opposed to the single gold standard.

will be after the convention is organized. This being known by all who have taken an interest in the campaign that is going on, and being conceded by the most ardent gold men themselves, the question arises, how would it help their cause for Atlanta to go to the Macon convention arrayed against the overwhelming democratic sentiment of the state? Why beat the air and engage in a futile campaign, the only possible outcome of which will be to present in the convention the democrats of Atlanta parrayed against the democratic sentiment of the state? That is a question for thoughtful men, even the gold men, to consider. A gold standard triumph in Fulton county is not probable, but admit it merely to show how futile such a triumph would be for the city of Atlanta! This money question is political, as all public questions must be in a republic governed by the people, but it goes far deeper than the ordinary political issues of the day. The people feel and understand that it is far more important than any other question. They see where it has cut down their wages, their incomes, their profits and the value of their property. They feel and resent 'the inroads that have been made on their prosperity, and they are more deeply stirred than they have been at any time since they engaged in the anti-reconstruction movement. The business man or the politician who fails to see this is blind, indeed. We say, therefore, that even if it were possible to carry Atlanta for the gold standard (which it is not) it would be a doubtful policy to send a delegation to Macon arrayed against the overwhelming democratic sentiment of the

This is just as well known now as it

If it were possible for the Atlanta delegation to the state convention to throw itself into the balance and carry the convention, there might be some justification for the effort. But there is not a possibility of this. It is admitted on all sides that the state convention will make a ringing declaration against the gold standard, with its bond issues, its currency contraction and its will be seen that the same is true to a general wrecking influence.

Why, then, should the gold men of Atlanta enter into a fussy campaign in behalf of a republican policy, when the most they can do is to go to Macon with a delegation arrayed against the almost unanimous democratic sentiment of the state?

As a matter of fact, they will fall short of carrying Fulton county by a vote of two to one, perhaps three to one. But even if they could succeed here, what is to be gained by it? How would their success help Atlanta?

As we have said before, that is a matter for the merchants and business men of this city to consider.

It "Falls Alike on the Just and the Unjust."

We published yesterday a most remarkable article taken from the editorial page of The Atlanta Evening Journal, the "official organ" of the secretary of the interior-remarkable not for the truth it contains, but for the fact that this pitiable story of the havoc being wrought by the single gold standard ever crept into such a conspicuous place in the columns of the newspaper which is now devoting its supreme energy to the defense of the currency system which has brought the business of the country to the verge of ruin.

Worth $1,500,000 three years ago, Archbishop Ireland is today a ruined man financially. "His real estate," says The Journal's St. Paul article, "in good times would be easily worth 50 per cent over and above his liabilities, but values had shrunk heavily," etc. Continuing, the same article says: "On land which before the panic was generally considered to be worth $2,500 to $3,000 per acre, the archbishop borrowed $200 to $300 per acre * * * but real estate in St. Paul at the present time is in a state of coma, and buyers cannot be found at any price."

The story of Archbishop Ireland is the story of tens of thousands of others throughout the union. Right here in Atlanta, where real estate is holding its own better than anywhere else in the south, property owners have seen their possessions shrink steadily in value since the heavy hand of the single gold standard has made money worth so much more than anything else that the attention of the business world is being concentrated in the effort to do business on money as a commodity, instead of in the development and improvement of the country and its industrial conditions. Thousands of farm properties in Georgia have been sold on the block to satisfy mortgages, and so great has been the decrease in values that in many instances the sales have failed to bring the amount of the mortgage. Factories have been shut down, thousands of people have been thrown out of work.

and helpless-And yet-Bonds!

More Bonds!

Two hundred and sixty-two milhous of bonds in two years to maintain a gold reserve from which has been drained the gold raid on again in earnest, and the prospect of the so-called "reserve" going below the hundred million mark before another ten days.

others have been rendered homeless

But we must have the English system even if we have to pay for it, and when we contemplate its ravages we can find consolation in the knowledge taught in reflecting upon the misfortune of the venerable Minnesota archbishop that, as bad as it is, the evils of the gold standard "fall alike on the just and the unjust."

Our Trade Relations with South

America. In order to improve the trade relations existing between the United States and South American republics a movement has been started by the National Manufacturers' Association for the purpose of making a thorough study of the situa

Instead of accepting indirect state ments, or depending upon the information furnished by consuls, the associa tion proposes to send to South America a delegation of its leading members.

The delegation will consist of twenty five members and the joint report which will be submitted, after a thorough investigation of the difficulties involved, will doubtless throw considerable light on this important commercial question. The need of this investigation is em phasized by the figures shown in the latest official reports. In 1893 Brazil imported from the various countries with which she trades a supply of goods aggregating $111,531,112 in value, of which amount the United States furnished only $13,866,006, or just about 12 per cent. On the contrary the goods which this country imported from Brazil amounted in value, for the same year, to $79,360,159, or six times as much as Brazil purchased in this market.

The problem is all the more difficult to explain for the reason that the trade of the United States with Brazil, as shown by the records for 1893, is three and one-half times as much as Great Britain imported for that year and two and one-half times as much as the imports of Germany. If this be true ought not Brazil to give the preference to the United States over either Great Britain or Germany? But our trade relations with the Argentine Republic are equally one sided. In 1894 that country purchased of the United States goods aggregating only $15,434,228, against a total of $194,484. 321 purchased in the world's market. And yet the trade of the United States with that country was considerably in excess of the amount purchased by the Argentine Republic in this market.

By referring to the trade reports it greater or less extent of all the South American countries. There must be some explanation of this strange condition of things. The United States as a facts will show, have carried on an extensive trade in the South American markets. This trade should be mutual and the relations existing between this country and the South American republies should be as fruitful in profit to the United States as it is to the countries of South America. Not only has the United States been larger purchaser of South American products than either Germany or England, and for that reason more deservbetween the various governments of States there exists the bond of free republican institutions.

The movement which the National Manufacturers' Association has started is a step in the right direction and one which will doubtless be productive of good results not only to this country but to the South American republics as well.

Tennessee's Exposition.

On the 1st of next month the state of Tennessee will celebrate the centennial anniversary of its admission into the sisterhood of the American union.

Interesting ceremonies in honor of that occasion will be held on the exposition grounds at Nashville and the great industrial enterprise which Tennessee has planned as a more substantial monument to the century which closes at that time will be inaugurated.

No state in the union has achieved more brilliant and patriotic distinction than Tennessee. Such names as those of Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk and Andrew Johnson are among the contributions which she has made to the republic. Enterprising and wide awake. her citizens have always been solid, progressive and thrifty.

Many of Atlanta's most substantial business men are natives of Tennessee and they have brought to the upbuilding of this city the pluck and energy for which the population of that state is noted.

The gates of the Tennessee centennial exposition will not be opened until the 1st of May, 1897; after which it will continue for a space of six months but the enterprise will be formally dedicated on the 1st of June, 1896.

The people of Tennessee have displayed the proverbial characteristics of the state in the preparations which they have made for their great centennial exposition and the best wishes not of the south alone, but of the entire union, will bespeak for them a brilliant and pronounced success.

Judge Speer in New Orleans. Judge Emory Speer, in his brilliant speech delivered in New Orleans on the opening of the Battle Abbey festival in hat city a few days ago, not only enthused the large audience which gathered to hear him, but added to his reputation as an orator.

The compliment which the people of New Orleans paid to this state in the selection of Judge Speer was gracefully requited by that officer in the patriotic sentiments which he expressed no less than in the high judicial prestige which he lent to that occasion.

In speaking of his address The Timesrat of New Orlean marked compliment to the distinguished Georgian from which the following paragraph is extracted:

To watch that whole audience sway he movement of his thought was an emo tional study, and when he pictured, with the orator's fire and the artist's power elineation some of the heroic passages of our great struggle the spontaneous bursts of applause and the multitude of wet eyes assembly bore witness of the speak er's marvelous power.

The address was acceptable to the surviving heroes of both armies who were present and the wildest enthusiasm prevailed throughout its delivery. New Orleans is making a strong effort to secure the Battle Abbey and this fact should stimulate the zeal of Atlanta to this same end.

New England's Last Endeavor. Congressman Barrett, of Massachu setts who has figured on more than one occasion as a most unique statesman again comes to the front in congress with a resolution in which he proposes a most ridiculous amendment to the constitution of the United States.

His proposition is to confer upon congress "the power to limit the time during which persons may be daily employed in manufactories of textile fabries and in other industries." In other words, the object which is contemplated by the congressman is to take away from the various states the power which belongs to them by implication and to insert a clause in the constitution of the United States conferring this power in express terms upon congress Such a proposition as this not only intrudes upon the domain of state legislation, but it aims at something which is manifestly unjust. If conditions were equal then, of course, the application of a general law would be just and equal in its operations. But where conditions are not only unequal but frequently antagonistic, the enactment of a universal law which altogether disregards these in equalities would be not only unjust, but oppressive.

Each state in the union has its own peculiar climate and physical conditions and for that reason should have the right, as far as possible, to enact such laws as would be in harmony with these conditions. The founders of the government, who framed the constitution. recognized this difficulty and for that reason the amplest power was vested in the states, while only enough was retained in the constitution to meet the ends of the general government.

Instead of amending the constitution by giving it power subtracted from the states, it might be better to enlarge the jurisdiction of the states by giving them power subtracted from the constitution. But that is still another question. The resolution which Congressman Barrett has introduced is intended to apply a general rule to all the cotton mills of the United States, and thus bring about an inequality in favor of the cotton mills power has always been friendly to these of New England and against those of countries, while our merchants, as the the south. To make a long story short he wants to keep these cotton mills from coming south or from losing heavily if they do not come. That is the whole story condensed in a nut shell. For the last five years New England has felt the effects of southern competition and she is beginning to realize that she is about to lose her cherished monopoly in this direction. For that reason she has saddled her cause upon the shoulders of Congressman Barrett and filled his mouth with the sweet moring of the trade of those countries, but sel of her provincial logic. Seeing that the cotton mills must come south, and South America and that of the United | baving exhausted every other possible expedient her last resort is to amend he constitution.

But this will never be accomplished Congress recognizes the fact that each state is capable of taking care of its own interests without federal intervention. Here in Georgia and other south ern states, where the climate is mild and salubrious, those who labor in the cotton mills can put in better and longer work than those who labor in the cotton mills of New England.

These conditions are such that congress cannot possibly provide for them in a general law and no such effort will be made on the part of the law-making power of the nation.

New England must recognize the fact that nature has favored this section of the land by making it the home of the cotton plant and that here by right divine belongs the cotton mill. No argument which can emanate from the neighborhood of Boston and no resolution which congress may consider can overcome the will of providence or resist the logic which appeals to capital from the soil and climate of this section.

Tonight is the night for the democrats of Fulton to meet in the Columbia theater for organization. The occasion will be an unusually interesting one.

It is time for the genuine democrats to arouse themselves to the emergencies of the hour. Those who do not desire to see their party swamped by republican financial doctrines are invited to meet their fellow citizens at the Columbia theater tonight.

The doctrines of Jefferson, Jackson and Alexander Stephens are good enough for the people of Georgia.

At the proper time Fulton will send greeting to the democrats of Georgia.

An' we want all the folks to jine! The groundswell of genuine democracy is still spreading over the country. Georgia will add a wave to the move ment when the time comes.

The gold men, having set the example of the unit rule, are now worrying because the democrats are adopting it.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TILLMAN.

Joel Chandler Harris Goes to the Speech and Reviews It.

What is the truth about Tillman? I have asked myself the question hundreds of times, and I presume that a great many other people who care more for ideas and principles than they do for politicians have asked themselves the same question. Why? Because, on the one hand, we have heard lot of newspaper editors, correspondents and reporters denouncing the South Carolinian as a populist and an anarchist, and lescribing him as a blackguard and a buffoon; while, on the other hand, we have seen the democratic voters of South Carolina standing almost as a unit in his support.

Naturally, therefore, the question arose in my mind, what is the truth about Tillman? If he is not what various newspapers describe him to be, what profit do they find in a monstrous perversion of the truth? But if the newspapers are correct, what is the secret of the man's hold on the people of South Carolina?

Here was a mystery, indeed. I remembered a fact that a great many people seem to have forgotten-that, from the foundation of the republic down to the present hour, there has never arisen a genuine democrat-a man of the people-of any degree of prominence who has not been denounced by the so-called "conservatives" as a communist and an anarchist. In his day and time, Jefferson was an "anarchist" and a "comunnist," and his doctrine were denounced as "dangerous." Andrew Jackson was "a dirty blackguard." Toomby was an "anarchist." Stephens was "demagogue." And even poor Mr. Tilder was said to be in favor of "promoting dan gerous doctrines." I remembered these things but they failed to solve the Tillman mystery, for the very newspapers that denounced him as a "blackguard and a buffoon" were loud in their pretentions of democracy. Then came Tillman's promotion to the United States senate, and, at the first opportunity, he made a speech before that body. Practically, the speech was suppressed by many of the newspapers both north and south, east and west. But the Washington correspondents described it as "unparliamentary, 'coarse" and "undignified." I made hast to get hold of a copy of the speech, and read it through in the Record from beginning to end. To my utter bewilderment I found not a paragraph, nor a sentence, nor a phrase, nor a word, nor an allusion to public matters that the condition of affairs did not call for and the occasion demand. I found marks of indignation in it, but from the first word to the last the sentiments expressed on public matters were those of a democrat. Hundreds of speeches fuller of invective and more "undignified" have been delivered in both houses of congress. But this only deepened the mystery. Perhaps Tillman had delivered a "coarse" speech and afterwards revised it for publication. Conse quently, when Mr. Tillman was announced to make a speech in the tabernacle, I resolved to make one of the audience and see and hear for myself.

What I saw was a trim, vigorous man full of energy and fire, standing before a vast assemblage of men apparently as much in earnest as he was. Behind him on the platform there was the flutter of fans in feminine hands. Before him stretched a sea of faces, many of them, perhaps the najority, belonging to middle-aged men. In the seats to the right of the platform were gathered an audience of younger menas if though the cohesion of youth had brought them together. A more thoughtful audience I have never seen,

What I heard was a speech as purely and as truly democratic as has ever been delivered in Atlanta, or anywhere else, for that matter. 'He carries his Jefferson with him," said a man at my side, and this was the fact. Tillman went to the fountain-head of democracy for his doctrine. He quoted from Jefferson's first inaugura He quoted from Jackson's message vetoing the renewal of the United States bank charter. In no part of his speech did he depart in the slightest particular from democratic principles as democrats under stand them. He spoke bluntly when dealing with the conditions we see around us -when dealing with the results of what he pithily called "republican legislation and democratic' administration." But the truth is ever blunt. It sometimes hurts, and ought to hurt. When you begin to soften the natural asperity of truth, you must, in the nature of things, adulterate its essence. But a political truth is never unpalatable to those who are pledged to the people's interests. I listened in vain to hear some hint of the "coarseness" and "vulgarity" which the newspapers led me to expect. I listened in vain to hear some intimation of "buffoonery." But these were entirely lacking. What I did hear was an earnest and a patriotic appeal to democratic voters to crouse themselves to the crisis that now endangers the country. In a certain picturesque employment of homely metaphors reminded me of Joe Brown, who was a South Carolinian. In his fluency and vigor of expression he reminded me of Colonel Tom Howard, who was the greatest of ou Georgia orators. In force and fire and directness, he reminded me of Toombs. In gesture and courage he was not unlike Henry Grady.

And although these reminiscent compari sons were thrust upon my mind, they took nothing from the vital and glaring individuality of Tillman himself. As the speech progressed, it was easy to see that Tillman was disappointed. There were moments when he would pause after making an argument or asking a question, and I soon discovered the cause. He had come to Atlanta expecting to be "put to the question," as it were-to be laid out on the ack of interruption and inquiry. He had expected to find at least one-half of his audience composed of gold standard men. At one point he paused and turned to the crowd on the platform behind him, say-

"I know there must be some goldbugs among you. Where are they? I see long lists of names in a newspaper here."

There was a wild shout of derision a this, and Tillman threw up his hands in mock despair, but his face wore as keen an expression of disappointment as I have ever seen on a speaker's face. Up to that moment his attitude had been one of eager expectation. He had come expecting to face a crowd of goldbugs, and had prepared himself for the occasion. He was anxious for the fray. He would pause in the midst of a sentence and listen to what some one in the audience was saying, and if any remark was addressed to him, his answer came quick as a flash. Once when he was complaining of democratic mal-administration, a populist standing near asked:

"Why didn't you follow us out?" "Where have you got to that I should have followed you?" cried Tillman, so promptly and vigorously that the dodged involuntarily. This gave the speaker a cue, an'

ic party was both eloquent and truthful. t was blunt and yet kindly. "You could have had everything you wanted except the subtreasury and government ownership of railroads," he said, "and these are not democratic." He then went on to show how the subtreasury plan is simply the national bank scheme applied to farm products, "and two wrongs don't make a right," he declared. Hhis exposition of the railway ownership scheme was felicitous. "Before you can own the railroads," he said, "you've got to make them quit owning you. They've got you nearly swallowed now, and they'll have to unswallow you before you can swallow them."

Then, more seriously, he went on to show that government ownership of railroads meant not only a vast increase in the army of superserviceable federal officials, but an increase of the public debt to the extent of at least $6,000,000,000. Concluding this branch of his subject, he urged the populists of Georgia to return to the democratic party and join hands with those in that party who are true to democratic principles: and he warned them against the men who are leading them away from the party in the hope of getting some small office out of them.

This portion of his speech was earnest, vigorous and masterly, and the populist who had called it forth had nothing to say. But it was plain to see that what Tillman needed, in order to display the full power of his remarkable gifts, was contradiction, opposition, the antagonism that finds vent in questions inviting repartee, or leading to suggestions. An old gentleman, sitting just below Tillman.

"Why not legislate value into wheat as well as into silver?" He received his answer before he could Once when some one made a remark or asked a question, the crowd grew impatient, and hooted him down. But Tillman wouldn't have it so.

"Let me alone!" he cried to the audience "I can take care of myself, That's what I'm here for." When the audience quieted down he paused and waited for the man to renew his inquiry or remark. But the inquirer re-

Again, when two or three persons walked out, Tillman said he would detain the audience no longer, as he saw they were getting tired. But the cries of "No. no! Go on!" were so unanimous and vehement that he went on with his speech. Now, I have no more interest in Tillman except in so far as he is a democrat, than I have in the man in the moon. We need just such a man at this moment in the state of Georgia. We need leaders who are not afraid to stand up for the people anywhere and in any crowd, and at any time of day or night. Instead of that, we have too many who are ready to trim when they hear a bush shake, and who are so uncertain as to their own views that they don't know where they stand. "Boys," says Friday, "let's be conservative," and the word is passed from this Friday to that until democratic principles are drowned out in a tidal-wave of "conervatism." POLITICS IN GEORGIA.

In a leading editorial The Covington Star says:

"We trust the silver delegates to the state convention at Macon will be careful about giving their proxies to anybody but silver men. No effort of that sort may be made in Georgia, but we do not know what means the enemies of silver will resort to in order to 'secure' control of the state convention, and so it is best to be watchful, and always on guard. Everybody knows that a large majority of the feople of Georgia are in favor of the free coinage of silver, and to lose the state delegation to Chicago through the 'securing' process would be an outrage upon the people, which would be ruinous to the party in the coming election. Let the delegates chosen to the Macon convention go to the convention and represent their people, or give their proxies only to men who are well known to be all right on the silver question. The Richland Paper says that as the days pass on down the home stretch toward June 6th, on which day Stewart county democrats will name their candi-dates for all the offices, politics becomes the more and more interesting. All along the line the boys are talking and pulling for their favorites, while now and then some zealous partisan becomes imbued with the idea that it is incumbent upor him to make a display of his faith in the success of his man, whereupon he pro-ceeds to put up a bluff at betting. Says Hill Is a Good Debater and Enjoys a Tilt with Him-His Own Pull at Home.

Senator Ben Tillman left yesterday morning for Columbia. He has been on a tour of the west and southwest recently. He went out as far as Denver and spoke in Kansas, Nebraska, St. Louis and Chicago. At some points he had immense audiences, and everywhere drew large crowds. When he returned from that tour he dropped down into Florida, made two speeches and then jumped over to Texas. He spoke at two or three places in the Lone Star State, addressed one Arkansas audience and jumped back to Atlanta. He would be in Texas yet had it not been for the approach of the South Carolina state democratic convention, which meets in Columbia today. Senator Tillman has a strong grip on his state. There is not such another leader in the United States. Three-fourths of the white population of his state believe strongly in h m. He explains this very state. "I have been in public affairs in my state for ten years. I have made three tours of the state, and have spoken in every county at least three times. Nearly every man in South Carolina has seen me. Why don't you all come down out of the clouds? If you had remained in the old party you would be able to control it, but when you left the democratic party the element that opposed your demands for relief just about counterbalanced the men who were in sym-pathy with you and who resolved to make the fight inside the lines. Over in South Carolina we made up our minds not to split but to stay right in the democratic party and capture it. And we did it. That is why

Very few democrats are left out there they are too disgusted with the national administration. In Nebraska there are mighty few democrats left-almost an republicans and populists. There is a great fire burning in this country on this finan-cial question. The people are not going to be cheated out of an opportunity to vote on it, either. The bankers and the corpor-ations of the old parties are going to try to pick candidates and shape platforms, so that the people will not get a chance to ex-press themselves for silver. But they cannot prevent it. Cleveland, nor Carlisle, nor Morrison, nor Russell, nor any of the rest of these Wall street hedgers, could carry three states in the entire country as a democrat on a gold platform. It is doubtful if they could carry a single one. There is just a chance for the democrats in New York because the people are mad at the Raines liquor law, which is not one-tenth as good as our dispensary system, over in South Carolina."

SHERMAN CARR LOCKED UP AT POLICE HEADQUARTERS

Failed To Provide for His Wife and Children-Will Be Tried Thursday.

Sherman Carr, a young white man, it locked up in a cell at police headquarters on the charge of deserting his wife and children. The arrest was made Monday night, but the warrant was not sworn ou before Justice Landrum until yesterday morning. under Captain Amos Baker, and is well known about town. Last winter he was employed at Blair's market, on Gran street, and in the summer he makes a sup port by doing odd jobs of painting.

He and his wife have not lived very happily during the eight years of their wedded life. Three little boys are the result of the union and present prospects indicate that the unhappy family will not live together in the future

Ran Away from Hime. Sherman Carr lived at 35 McDaniel street before he deserted his family. He and his wife had always lived happily together until a few years ago, when it is said he began to grow wild and would often stay away from home late at night, and be-came very dissipated.

The couple have been married eight years, and have only lived together some thing over five years of that period. It is claimed that he has not provided for his family as he should and has caused his pretty little wife much suffering and anxiety as to how she should pay the house rent, and secure enough to eat for her babies. At one time during the world's fair at Chicago, Carr suddenly disappeared with-out giving his wife the least notice and she did not know of his whereabouts for several days, until he was finally located in Chicago. He came back, however, and was received back into his family once Leaves His Wife Again.

As time advanced Carr seemed to lose all love for his wife and children, and on last Memorial day he left home again. He went to his home after the parade and told his wife that he was going to return his uniform to Captain Baker, whereupon he wrapped up the suit very whereupon he wrapped up the suit very carefully in his new mackintosh overcoat and went away, and did not return for several days. Last Monday he left again and it was afterwards developed that he took his jewelry and other effects that might be of use to him. Mrs. Carr soon became very uneasy about her husband's disappearance, as the house rent was long past due and she had no money with which to pay it. She instituted a search for a clew, and found in the pocket of Carr's old trousers a card on which was inscribed: "J. S. Carr and Mary Lovejoy," as well as a tintype photograph of the couple.

joy," as well as a tintype photograph of the couple.

The wife began a search for her prodigal husband with the determination to bring him to justice if captured. The officers sighted Carr on Peters street last Monday night and carried him to the station house, not a very sober man. His trial will come up before Judge Landrum Thursday morning and he will be prosecuted by his unhappy wife, who is now quartered with her brother, on Highland avenue.

The Husband Talks. Carr was seen last night in his cell, and greatly deplores his predicament.
"I never deserted my family." said he, "and have always provided for their support. I am willing to go back home and keep perfectly straight in future if my wife will not prosecute me."

BANKERS OFF TO AUGUSTA. Party of Atlanta Men Leave for the Convention. The annual session of the Georgia Bankers' Association convenes in Augusta today and will continue in session for two today and will continue in session for two or three days to come. Many of the leading bankers of the state are in attendance and Atlanta has sent quite a large delegation. Among those who went from Atlanta are Messrs. T. D. Meador, vice president of the Lowry Banking Company; T. B. Neal, president of the Neal Loan and Banking Company; J. K. Ottley, cashier of the American Trust and Banking Company; W. L. Peel, cashier of the Maddox-Rucker Banking Company, and other gentlemen interested in banking interests in Atlanta.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

DO YOU WANT TO VOTE ON JUNE 6?

What the Voter Must Do to Enjoy His Franchise.

MUST SIGN VOTERS' OATH

Mere Payment of Taxes Does Not Register a Voter.

WERE REGISTERED ON YESTERDAY Only About Two Weeks Remain Before the Books Will Close for the June Primaries. The registration of voters took a decided spurt yesterday and one of the largest totals of the season was the result of the day's work. The office of Tax Collector Stewart was warming all day with voters who desired to qualify for the June primary and the clerks in the office were kept busy taking the names and registering the applicants. Two hundred and eleven names foun their way on the registration lists and this amount is the largest of any day since the books were opened.

The rush is now on and will doubtless ontinue until the last day in which voters can register. The grand total of registered voters has not yet been footed up, but it is said to be considerably in excess of 8,000. Less than two weeks remain before the registration books in Tax Collector Stewart's office for the primary of June 6th close. The books close on June 1st and the voters up to vesterday have been responding in an indefferent manner that is no at all in keeping with the importance of the election. tered on any one day since the books were opened. This indefference regarding the matter Mr. Stewart attribute's to a lack of knowledge of the registration laws.

"A great many men," says Collector Stewart, "believe they are registered sim ply because they have paid up all the taxes that are required of those who register. This mistake is keeping many men who al ways vote, who want to vote and expect to vote from registering.

"They don't seem to understand that paying their tax doesn't register them. The law requires that each voter sign the registration oath in my presence, or in th presence of a deputy, before he is registered. It is a matter of but a minute. I keep the registration slips on hand and can fill them out in a half minute. All that the voter has to do then is to sign the paper, which certifies that he has paid all taxes up to and including those of The taxes of 1895 fell due in October and must be paid before the voter car register."

It has not occurred in years that a registration has been so important as this one, for more issues are to be settled at the primary on June 6th and the fall elections of the nation, state and city, for which the present registration qualifies a voier, than were ever before grouped to gether in three elections At the primary on June 6th the voter who qualifies by June 1st will be entitled to vote for: Three members of the legislature. A senator from the thirty-fifth senatorial Congressman from the fifth district. Delegates to the state convention at Macon, June 24th. Candidate for the United States senate. The present registration also qualifies the voters for participation in the elections for president, for governor and all statehouse officers and for mayor and council, all of which occur this fall. Never before has a single registration covered so many elections-and all important ones. Hardly half as many white voters-only white voters are allowed to vote in the election on June 6th-as Fulton county is entitled to have registered so far. Those who know say there should be fully 15,000 white voters qualified for the June primary. Up to date only about 8,000 have complied with the registration law. If you want to vote, lose no time is registering.

BIG THIEF CAUGHT.

WILLAM WELCH, WANTED IN TUSCALOOSA, ARRESTED.

Appears To Have Committed Offenses in Two Cities-Says He Is Innocent

William Welch, a young white man, is confined in a cell at police headquarters on the charge of grand larceny. He was brought in from the stockade yesterday morning, where he has been confined on a sixty days' sentence for fighting and resisting an officer. Welch appears to be wanted at two places in Alabama, where he is ac-cused of having committed offenses. A let-ter came from the sheriff at Tuscaloosa, Ala., several days ago, to Chief Slaughter, of the detective department, notifying him that Welch was in Atlanta and that he was wanted for grand larceny in the Alabama

The prisoner is also wanted in Seal, Alawhere he is accused of having committed a where he is accused of naving committed a serious offense. The authorities there were not field by Chief Connolly last night of the prisoner's incarceration, and it is supposed that they will send a man for him today. Welch was seen last night, and while he acknowledges having been in Tuscaloosa several months ago, yet he insists that he is entirely innocent of any such charge.

A PATRIARCH DEAD.

Mr. George Stewart, Aged Ninety-One, Rests from His Labors,

Mr. George Stewart, one of Atlanta's oldest patriarchs, died yesterday at the residence of his son, Mr. G. B. Stewart, in West End. Mr. Stewart was ninety-one years old and had been a resident of this city for forty-three years. He was a contractor, and did his first work with the Georgia railroad when its tracks were only eleven miles out of Au-gusta headed this way.

He came here in 1853 and contracted the work for filling in around the round-hous of the Western and Atlantic railroad.

He also did such work for the Central

He also did such work for the Central railroad of Georgia.

In 1862 Mr. Stewart was elected lieutenant of police of this city and served in that capacity during the last three years of the war.

In 1865 he was elected superintendent of streets and had the enormous duty of cleaning up the debris after General Sherman had passed through, leaving his path strewn with the wreck of a burned city. He remained in the position of superintendent of streets for a number of years. The remains of Mr. Stewart will be interred at Oakland cemetery this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS AND ARCHITECTES TO CONFER.

The New Structure To Be of Stone and Steel and Will Be Substantial and Elegant.

The public buildings committee of the poard of county commissioners will hold a meeting during the present week, at which tim; the plans for the new jail will be discussed and examined. At the last session of the board the entire matter of selecting a suitable plan was referred to this committee with instructions to act upon the question and report back to the board at the meeting to be held in June. Five plans were placed with the commissioners, and out of this number there will be but little frouble in selecting some-thing which is suitable for the new struct-

The architects who entered the competion will doubtless remain in the city until the committee meets, as they will desire to more fully explain their plans.

"What we desire," said Commissioner Forrest Adair, "is a modern prison, in which the criminals of the county can be placed with perfect safety, yet with ab colutely no danger to their health. We need trate every cell, and in which the prisoner can breathe the pure air.

"What Fulton county needed twenty years ago will not fill the requirements of the present. Neither are we able to judge the future by the present. Should the public buildings committee decide favorably upon one of the plans now under consideration their action could be ratified at the meeting of the board in June. It would require sixty days to advertise for bids; consequently by the first of August the contract could be let and work could begin at once.

The lot is now in the possession of the county, the deeds have all been signed and work on the foundation can be started as soon as the contract is let.

At any rate it will not be many months before the doors are closed upon criminals and the present unforbiddirg structure will be torn away.

Constitution-Cap Joyner's remarks, as reported in this morning's Constitution, have been read with interest They are as candid and manly as the chief himself is in every throbbing of his brave heart. He has always been candid as to the amount of the needs of his department and candid with the property owners and insurance men, as to the danger of fires 'getting away with him." It was no fault of his that the double water main was so long delayed, nor is he to be blamed that more fire companies have not been added to his department.

But leaving the past behind, let us take warning from his candid admission of insufficiency of men and machines, and give moral support to city authorities to make immediately all necessary improvements. In considering this matter. I emphasize as a cardinal principle to guide in every de-partment of Atlanta's government, that provision for any and all of its needs should be far in excess of the most liberal estimate of its population at the time. It is no doubt correctly estimated that our population is over 100,000 now. According to this principle, we should build our sewer-age, fire department, water mains and connections, pavements, sanitary protection and so on, for double that population. This plan would not only give present safety, but would actually invite population and induce a large increase in the best class of buildings, manufactories, etc. If in twenty-five years Atlanta reached from practically nothing up to a population of 100,000, she should in ten to twenty years double that population, and increase the value of her real and personal properties far beyond any percentage heretofore realized. The mere announcement of the statement will carry conviction to every man capable of understanding the simple rule of three, of appreciating the grand prospect of fu-ture improvement now giving promise to the entire south, and especially to Georgia With this as a rule, Cap Joyner should have immediately five first-class engines duly equipped for his department; next year five more and so on each year till we get in advance of the existing demands, and thus continue to act with the view of keeping in advance. "Money saved is money made. There cannot be a fire, however protected by insurance, but must prove a public calamity, and hence protection is of more value than quadruple its cost, and therefore is a public duty which the property owners and business men and working men should require at the hands of public offi cials. In my judgment the latter need only to be sustained by a wise, prudent public sentiment and be protected from those penny wise ones, who are always harping for an economy which runs into loss and which stifles very materially reasonable advancement. JOHN C. WHITNER.

A Car Breaker Caught.

Dock Williams, a young negro, is locked up at police headquarters on the charge of burglary. He was caught by officers Lyle and Randall late last night in the act of breaking into a freight car on the Georgia railroad. He was tried only last week for the same offense in the Southern yards, but was released on account of there not being sufficient evidence to convict.

Ran Away from Home. Etnest Hughes, the four-teen-year-old son of Joseph W. Hughes, who lives at 4 Savannah street, ran away from his home yesterday afternoon and had not been found up to a late hour last night. This is not the first time he has attempted to leave home, and no reason is ascribed for his action.

Mr. Scoville Returns Thanks.

Editor Constitution—Permit me, please, through your columns to return my sincere thanks to the Atlanta fire department for the efficient work Sunday night. Though the house was not saved, it was in no way the fault of Chief Joyner and his men. The flames had made too much headway to be checked when the firemen arrived and yet they were never quicker in reaching a fire than on Sunday night. The flames jumped almost instantly from the barn to the hotel and had the department been in the house at that time I doubt if anything could have been done, so dry was everything. As it was every fireman worked with zeal and energy, some trying to stay the flames, others seeing that none of the guests were in the rooms.

I desire to return thanks to Mr. Marcellus Markham, Captain Fred Bush, Mr. Ed Callaway and Mr. W. H. Barnes for assistance in many ways: Especially I want to thank Sergeant Abbott and Patrolman Linam for the great assitance they rendered.

HIS BANEFUL PASSION.

Great Statesman Punished for His Contempt of Never-Changing Natural Laws.

"I never saw a man with such a pas for work and such a contempt for health," said a French artist of one of the busiest statesmen in Europe. In a few days the cable brought news In a few days the cable brought news that nature, had punished this minister for violating her laws. He was reported to be suffering from a heavy cold, "aggravated," the message said, "by prolonged and excessive labor, and insufficient sleep." The statesman was said to be weak, nervous and peevish, and to complain of pains in the head and in the muscles. What his doctors did for him the dispatch doesn't tell. What an ambitious American does in similar circumstances is no secret. Knowing, that the first demand of the body is for a stimulant, he takes the best obtainable—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and the distress attending a cold soon goes.

The reason why? It is as easy as A, B C. Stomach, lungs, liver, kidneys, all the organs in fact, are lagging, and do their work feebly. Thy need a gentle stirring up, and then they will go on as usual. What is wanted in this emergency is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey supplies. It surely is not necessary to point out the consequences of a neglected cold. They may last a lifetime. is not necessary to point out the consequences of a neglected cold. They may last a lifetime. Prejudice against the use of a good stimulant has been dispelled by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which citizens of the highest standing have cordially recommended. The distinction between an absolutely pure whiskey and articles made of usel oil and other mischief-making ingredients is perfectly clear in the public mind. That is why Duffy's Pure Malt is welcome in families.

New York, May 19 .- Business at the stock exchange was quiet again today, the dealings in stocks amounting to only 116,500 thares, of which Sugar alone figured for 52,700 shares. The tone of the market at the opening was characterized by firmness, the comparatively small exports of gold by today's German steamer and a belief that the recent sales of American securities abroad will furnish sufficient exchange to keep shipments of the metal within moderate bounds, having contributed to the strength of the market at that The improvement, however, was ned to narrow limits save in the case of Rubber stocks, which gained 1½@2½ per-cent on the statement submitted to the stockholders at their annual meeting at New Brunswick, N. The former fell from 122½ to 120 and the latter from 101½ to 100½. Sugar's weakness was due to the reduction in the price of refined, which has led to realizations by brokers alleged to have inside connections. New York, May 19.—Again Liverpool was higher and again the market had support from prominent bull interests here. New Orleans was quiet and strong. Receipts were comparatively small and there was quite a little demand to cover, particularly in the new crop months, which are likely to be oversold from time to time. The speculation was not heavy, however. Spot markets, American and foreign, were quiet. Manhattan showed no life. The state of trude at Fall River and Providence is not altogether satisfactory and the crop news in most cases is favorable. The market closed quiet and steady at a rise of 1 to 3 points. Liverpool was unchanged on the spot with sales of 8,000. Futures there advanced ½ to 1 point. New Orleans advanced 3 to 8 points. In Manchester yarns and cloths were dull. Port receipts were 51,384, against 9,333 last week, 8,360 last year and 3,700 in 1894. Thus far this week 12,446, against 21,175 thus far last week, Augusta received 11, against 279 and 122: Memphis 76, against 147 and 18; St. Louis 31, against 1,810 and 214: Houston 313, against 1,737 and 2,346. Memphis shipped 320. St. Louis 1,570 and Houston 175. New Orleans expects tomorrow 1,400 to 1,600, against 1,414 last week, 593 last year and 330 in 1893. Houston expects 700 to 800, against 229. Spots here were unchanged. Sales 76 for spinning and 400 delivered on contract. Southern spot markets were unchanged. New Orleans sold 1,500, St. Louis 503, Augusta 185, Savannah 155 and Mobile 100. We advocate purchases on a conservative scale on the decline.

The Dry Goods Market. New York, May 19.—The Journal of Com-merce and Commercial Bulletin, in its weekly review of the dry goods market weekly review of the dry goods market today, says:

"The dry goods market this week has been on the whole of a disappointing character. There has been a lack of sustained demand in quarters where recent buying has been good, and no dvelopment of activity in other directions. It is quite evident that the buyers have not as yet mustered up courage enough in any department of the market to go ghead of near requirements except at decidedly low prices, and beyond absolutely necessary business they are easily checked by any accession of firmness on the part of the seliers. In cotton dress fabrics there has been a quiet, regular trade, with some sales of volume at low prices. The woolen and worsted goods have been dull with no new feature of moment."

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, May 19 .- (Special.)-Another very dull day in cotton, with a slight gain in prices, caused by the covering of timid shorts. August opened at 8.11, declined to 99 rallied to $ 13 and closed at $.11 bid. with the tone quiet and steady. After the close prices eased, August being freely ofclose prices eased, August being freely offered at 8.11. Mr. Iuman, who was a seller of August at 8.13 today, said this afternoon that he thought it hardly fair to attribute the wide difference here between the near and the for months to manipulation based on the small stock of spot outon here available for delivery on contract. He called attention to the fact that in Liverpool, where there is a stock of nearly a million bales, the differences are nearly as wide as with rs. This is true, but nobody here questions the fact that it is Mr. Inman's handling that sustains the market, and the impression is equally general that if his support were known to be withdrawn fully one-half the difference between the near and the distant months would melt away, both here and in Liverpool in a single day.

and in Liverpool in a single day. The Sun's Cotton Review. New York, May 19.-Cotton advanced 1 to points, closing quiet and steady, with sales of 57,700 bales Today's Features—A slight advance took place in spite of some drawbacks. For instance, the speculation was light; the spot stance, the speculation was light; the spot markets here and abroad were dull; Manchester was lifeless. Fall River and Providence were in about the same predicament and the crop news was generally favorable. Good rains were reported at Bennetsville, S. C. The stocks of raw cotton held by northern mills in this country and also by mills on the continent of Europe are larger than usual. Everybody looks for the biggest crop on record during the coming season. At the same time the statistical position is well known to be strong. Liverpool today was higher. Leading New York bulls were buying. New Orleans was conspicuously strong. The receipts were small; the exports of late have been rather liberal and print cloths have latterly been cretty steady, and some descriptions of cotton goods have sold a trifle more freely. Good commercial paper, it is stated, commands a ready sale. The crop outlook in the Carolinas and parts of Georgia and Texas might be better. Insects are complained of in Texas, and dry weather on the Atlantic Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, May 19.—If anything the mar-ket is quieter today than yesterday, trans-New York, May 19.—If anything the market is quieter today than yesterday, transactions being apparently limited to closing existing transactions in the summer position while the crop advices are too good to induce any selling of the crop. This may seem a curious statement, but when crop accounts are excellent they are apt to turn for the worse and therefore trading has come to a standstill. It is understood that the large line of contracts sold yesterday in Liverpool represents a hedge against the shipment from one of the southern interior markets and not as at first supposed for the account of local interests here. Traders believe the strength of the local position will gradually force the summer deliveries angher and affect the distant positions as before. They are, therefore, inclined to work on the bull side at present. A better demand for the new crop delivery thought to represent a covering of the local short interest made on the recent decline is the history of the afternoon session.

Trading in the summer positions was limited with interest apparently decreasing. The feeling in the trade here favors an improvement. The spot market has been very dull today, quotations are unchanged, but sales are hard to make. Sales for consumption 76 bales; deliveries on contracts, sumption 76 bales; deliveries on contracts, sumption 76 bales; deliveries on contracts,

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Up a Little and the Other Markets Show No Change. kets Show No Change.

Chicago, Ill., May 19.—Yesterday's closing weakness in wheat was carried into this morning's trade in that grain, further selling out by longs and more driving by short sellers, depressing prices about ½c further. Before the close, however, there was a reversal in feeling and shorts were good buyers, displaying more or less anxiety in the operation. The recovered strength was due to reported export business at the seaboard. July wheat opened from 61½ to 61661½, sold between 60½ and 60½600¾, closing at 61½~½.0½c nigher than yesterday. Cash wheat was firm to ½c higher.

Corn displayed the same indifference of than yesterday. Cash wheat was firm to be higher.

Corn displayed the same indifference of action which has characterized it for so long. It moved slowly and with reference only to what was taking place in wheat Early it was weak and later firmer. Local scalpers and privilege holders were the only operators and their transactions were on an extremely limited scale. July corn opened at 29%@29½c, sold between 29% and 29%c, closing at 29%@29½c—a shade higher than yesterday. Cash corn sold at steady prices. The demand was not urgent, but all offerings were readily taken.

Oats—No incident or feature aside from the every day routine developed in oats. The trade was not marked by any unusual activity, the transactions of the day being of minor importance. July oats closed unchanged from yesterday. Cash oats were firm.

Provisions—The action in provisions was unchanged from yesterday. Cash outs werefirm.

Provisions—The action in provisions was listless and prices were almost stationary during the greater part of the session. The hog market was unchanged and its failure to fluctuate tended to steady provisions. Pork advanced with wheat late in the day, but the articles scarcely moved. July pork closed Tyc higher than yesterday, July lard and ribs 2½@5c lower. Domestic markets were guiet and stead.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. By Private Wire to Paine-Murphy Brokerage Company.

Chicago, May 19.—There has not been much animation in the wheat trade lately, but feeling most of the session has been firm, the pressure to sell naving apparently about exhausted itself yesterday. At one time the market declined ½c very quickly, touching 60½c for July, but offerings were picked up by shorts and some local professionals who had previously covered and who were working for a reaction, which came later in the session, prices advancing nearly a cent per bushel. The weather all over the country was favorable. Northwestern receipts were large, but clearances, 216,600 bushels, were a little better, and the official world's wheat shipments to Europe did not foot up as large as was estimated yesterday, being about 7,40,000 bushels, or about theoretical recuirements. Liverpool also did not show as much weakness as did American markets yesterday, closing ¼ to ½d lowed. The trade was largely of a local Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. about theoretical requirements. Liverpool also did not show as much weakness as did American markets yesterday, closing ½ to ½d lowed. The trade was largely of a local character, with the general tendency to buy for a turn, rather than follow the decline too persistently. After the break we have had Bradstreet's report showed a decrease in America east of the rockies of 2,629,000 bushels, but an increase in Europe and affoat of 1.486,000, making a decrease in the world's visible supply, exclusive of any reported change west of the Rockies, of 1,181,000 bushels. In corn the market was steady, notwithstanding reports of increased farmer deliveries.

Oats were steady. The market is featureless within a narrow limit, apparently awaiting crop news and conditions. There was fair to good demand for shorts and local traders for pork and ribs, but lard was neglected and inclined to sag a littlé. Packers were sellers early, but only to a moderate extent. Pork closed about 10c per barrel higher than yesterday. Lard and ribs from 2½ to 5c per 100 pounds lower.

FREIGHT TRAINS STOP ON SUNDAY

So Decides the Supreme Court of the United States.

ABOUT THE LAW OF THE STATE

Attorney General Terrell Wins the Fight He Made.

TRAFFIC IN GEORGIA ON SUNDAY MUST CEASE A Georgia Case of Long Standing

Finally Settled in Uncle Sam's Big Court.

Hereafter when a freight train runs in Georgia on Sunday it will run at its peril. This was settled by a decision of the supreme court of the United States day before yesterday, when that court sustained the opinion of Attorney General Terrell in the famous Hennington case.

The case has been in the courts for a long time. On March 15, 1891, L. F. Hennington, superintendent of transportation of the Alabama Great Southern, running from Chattanooga to Meridian, Miss., ran a freight train, loaded with interstate freight, through Dade county, Georgia. The solicitor general of the circuit in which Dade county lies made a case against Mr. Hennington for violation of the Sunday law of Georgia. The case has all along been recognized as a test ease, and has been fought by the railroads to the highest court in the United States. The Georgia law, section 4578 of the code, which has been sustained by the supreme court, reads as follows:

"If any freight train shall be run on any railroad in this state on the Sabbath may (known as Sunday), the superintendent of transportation of such railroad company, or the officer having charge of the business of that department of the railroad, snall be liable for indictment for a misdemeaner in each county through which such train shall pass, and, on conviction, shall be for each offense punished as prescribed in ection 4310 of this code. On such trial it shall not be necessary to allege or prove the names of any of the employes engaged on such train, but the simple fact of the train being run. The defendant must justify himself by proof that such employes acted in direct violation of the orders and rules of the defendant; provided, always, that whenever any train on any railroad in this state heving in such train one or more cars loaded with live stock, which train shall be delayed beyond schedule time, shall not be required to lay over on the line of the road or route during Sunday, but may run on to the point where, by due course of shipment or consignment, the next stock pen on the route may be, where said animals may be fed and watered according to the facilities usually afforded for such transportation. And it shall be lawful for all freight trains on the different roads in this state, running over said roads on Saturday night, to run by the supreme court, reads as follows: and it shail be lawful for all freight trains on the different roads in this state, running over said roads on Saturday night, to run through to destination; provided the time of arrival, according to the schedule by which the train or trains started on the trip, shall not be later than 8 o'clock on Sunday morning."

Attorney General Terrell's Opinion.

Attorney General Terrell has been defend-ng the state in the legal contest against ailroads, and his position has been sust ned by the supreme court of the Unite States, although some of the finest alent of the country has been arraved against him. The railroads have tac itly agreed to make a test case of the Ala-bama Great Southern case, and have centered their fight on that point. The brief and argument of Attorney General Terrell was a very able paper, citing a great number of instances to sustain his position, and the fact that the supreme court of the United States has sustained him is evidence of the legal acumen and ability brought to

What Will the Railroads Do? The question now is, what will the roads operating in and through Georgia do? A great number of indictments are now pendng the decision, and it rests with the solicitors general as to whether they will be prosecuted or whether the roads will be allowed to pay the costs and have the indictments dismissed. In future, when a freight train runs through Georgia, it will have to do so by the consent of the solicitors general of the judicial circuits through which it runs.

Any grand jury will have the tight to find a true bill against the man responsible for operating a freight train in Georgia on Sunday, and if they run, it will be by sufferance.

The case is a very important one, affecting great interests, and the fact that the attorney general of the state has won his case, after a long fight against the best legal talent of the country is a great compliment to his ability as a lawyer.

The Pooling of Freight Cars. Mr. J. R. Cavanagh, superintendent of car service of the Big Four railway, who is an earnest advocate of a plan for the pool ing of freight cars, says: "No one for a minute, I think, will deny that the com-bined equipment of this country is more than sufficient to handle the heaviest traf fic we have ever been called upon to move and not turn down a single order. In fact, I am positive that it is unnecessary to build in the coming ten years one single item of freight equipment, except maintaining the ent number. A great many have made the statement that the proposition was "too large," 'impracticable,' 'unwieldy,' etc., but they fail to advance any reasons why. The same remarks were made when the Joint Traffic Association was first mentioned— 'it is an impossible thing,' 'would not hold together thirty days, etc. It has now been in exis ence many months, and apparently is get g stronger each day.

"If alroads will delegate the authority to make and mannain rates over their respective lines, why not delegate the handling and distribution of millions of dollars' worth of equipment, which at present is investment, as far as car mileage is con-cerned?aithough I do not believe this view should be the only one taken of it, as with-out the cars we could not earn revenue. However, think of the increased revenue we could get, and there is no denying the fact that even with half a mill per care mile the cars would be more than self-sustaining in the proposed general usage. A very small estimate would place the increased performance of 35 per cent. There would also be a large decrease in empty mileage, switching at stations and ter-

PASSENGER MEN MEET.

The Rate Committee Holds an All Day's Session Here.

The rate committee of the Southern States Passenger Association met yesterday at the Equitable. Among the out-of-town railroad men here were General Passenger Agents W. A. Turk, of the Southern; C. P. Atmore of the Louisville and Nashville . C. Haile, of the Central Railway of eergia; A. O. McDonald, of the Florida Central and Peninsular; G. D. Ackerly, of the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West; R. M. Pile, chief clerk Pennsylvania's passenger department; H. C. MacFadden, as-

Plant system; R. R. Window, traveling passenger agent of the Old Dominion steamsnip Company; J. D. Rahner, of the Florida East Coast, and A. P. Johnston, of the Southern.

The business before the committee was chiefly routine. The matter of rates for the great conclave of Knights of Pythias next year was taken up. It is desired by the Georgia Pythians to get their national conclave to meet in Atlanta, and it was the desire of the committee to give a rate of I cent a mile in association territory.

of 1 cent a mile in association terratory. This rate will probably be given all over the country.

This year the conclave was to be held in the northwest, but the roads in that territory would not give satisfactory rates, so the meeting was transferred to Cleveland and the northwestern roads lose the business. The rate committee adjourned last night.

A New Sleeping Car. type of combination parlor and sleeping car is being built in the Pittsburg and Lake Erie shops. If it is a success the days of the porter are numbered and every passenger will be able to touch a button and get his berth ready made up. This new coach is described as being exactly like any other first-class railway coach, so far as outward appearances go. Inside, the new car combines all the features of an ordinary parlor car, but with many unique additions. It is claimed by the inventor that the combination car can be transformed from a parlor into a sleeping car in less time than it now takes to make up the ordinary, sleeper. The combination and quick work are all due to the use of pneumatic air cushions on the chairs and in place of the customary matevery passenger will be able to touch a use of pneumatic air cushions on the chairs and in place of the customary mattresses in the berths. Compressed air, in the new combination car, does the work, and the turning of a single screw valve transforms the parlor car into a fully apportioned sleeper. pertioned sleeper.

The berth cushion or mattress is made-something after the same style as an ac-cordeon, in order that it may be compactly folded up and stowed away when not in use. By exhausting the air in the mattress or chair cushions the whole arrangement collapses and can be swung aside out of the way. The mere turning of a valve inflates the mattress, which is forced out of the side of the car, where it has been stored, and as it fills with air it falls into place, forming the upper and lower berths. lace, forming the upper and lower berths. NO PROMISE OF RAIN TODAY.

Weather Man Sees No Prospect of a Shower Ahead.

There was yesterday very little change in the weather conditions. The tempera-ture was still abnormally high throughout the south, except at points along the gulf coast, where it was cooler than in the interior. At the time of taking the evening observation there was no welldefined area of low pressure east of the defined area of low pressure east of the Rockies, although there was a slight margin of low along the eastern shore of that range. In the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, the lake region and north Atlantic states the weather was comfortably cool, Chicago reporting the mercury at 50 degrees, while stations on the north Atlantic coast and along the Missouri reporting it at 64 degrees. During the day there was light rain at several stations along the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri river, but the greater portion of the country was without rainfall, more especially the south Atlantic and gulf states, where not a single reporting station of the weather bureau had rain. For Georgia today: Fair except in extreme north portion, local thunderstorms.

The Battle Abbey Festival Begins This Atternoon.

SUPERB FLORAL PARADE

Brilliant Programme of Exercises for the Afternoon-Great Day Is Promised.

Every detail has been arranged to make the May fete at Piedmont park a glorious success. The floral pageant will include as many as a hundred beautifully decorated equipages, every imaginable flower having its representation in the display. There will be tea carts wreathed in vio lets, Victories fairly covered with roses and every turnout will present some artistic design in decoration. Among the many beautiful ones the Victoria of Mrs. E. C. Peters has six dozen pink roses in its adornment. Mrs. Knowles's tea cart will be entirely covered with violets. Mrs. Eugene C. Spalding will use hundreds of yellow chrysanthemums on her cart. Mrs. Lowe will use crimson roses in profusion on her tea cart. Mrs. Ridley will use yel-low flowers entirely. Mrs. Lewis Beck will use crimson poppies.

The ladies who are to ride in the floral procession are requested to meet at the Jackson street entrance at the appointed while everybody to take part in the bicycle parade will meet at the front entrance of the park, and riding round to the Jackson street entrance join the pageant. The marshals of the day will be Mr. Stuart, Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Ray and Mr.

After the progress of the procession around the grounds the equipage will all stop at the woman's building, where de-bodies refreshments will be serve-throughout the evening.

Among the entertaining features of the bicycle parade will be a bicycle drill, in which the following little girls will participate: Edith Lazarus, Minnie Winn, Ethel Burk, Agnes Kime, Virginia Ver-noy, Marion Peel, Varina Ruse, Kathleen Wright, Bertha McLester and Ruth Ver-ner.

The prizes offered by Mr. Byrd, of the Crescent company, and Mr. Copeland, of the Columbia, are exciting great interest among the many contestants. Tickets for the various contests may be procured at the residence of Mrs. Raine or at the Crescent and Columbia offices. There have been no complimentary tickets issued, so that every one entering the park or taking part in any way in the festivities will be charged admittance. MISS WOODS'S RECITAL.

Gifted Pupil of Barili Entertains Critical Audience.

A large and fashionable audience, including many leading professionals of the city, assembled yesterday on the invitation of Professor Barili to greet the first appearance of his pupil, Miss Woods. Those who were familiar with Barili's nervousness and lack of confidence in his pupils felt when they read the stupendous programme in which the young girl was to sing five airs in three different languages and five other selections embodying every phase of musical expression, all from memory, that he was confident of her ability. Every number was beautifully rendered, and the sur-prise and delight of the audience increased from beginning to end.

Miss Woods had wonderful repose for a first appearance. Her manner was ease and grace itself, and the nobility of her purpose, fraught with high artistic feeling was apparent in all that she sang. Her voice is a large dramatic mezzo soprano with quality, unusual compass and great sweetness. Miss Woods comes of a musical family and sings con amore. Her best selections won the Scarlati number, the familiar "Una Voce" which was rapturously en-cored and the ballad "If I but Knew," which was charmingly rendered. Her sing-ing was almost phenomenal, in that it included a beautiful and rare voice perfectly trained, so far as it goes, a true musical feeling, a remarkable, intellectual expres-sion and an appearance modest and attractive. Miss Woods generously gave all praise to her teacher, claiming nothing for ner God-given talent and years of patient toil. And that teacher himself received an ovation from the audience. The first ap-pearance of his pupil who had been taught by him alone, in an ambitious programme by him alone, in an ambitious programme which to many artists would be impossible, and in which she proved herself so successful, gratified and astorished his friends. Barili has long been known as a successful teacher, an accomplished pianist and a composer whose "Cradle Song" has become a classic, but it was only on yesterday that his marvelous power as a voice builder became apparent. Atlanta is to be congratulated on having such a true artist within her borders.

GOOD ROADS THE WORD.

FULTON COUNTY CYCLERS OR-GANIZE A CLUB.

They Want Turnpikes All Over the County-The Farmers Are with Them.

The Good Roads Association, which is the name of the bicyclers' league organized last week, will hold a meeting tomorrow at noon in the Young Men's Christian As-

The object of the association, as has been announced, is to get the local wheel-men together in the interest of good roads. Organizations of this kind have existed all over America for the last ten years, and the work they have done in the interest of good roads has been marvelous Every man who rides a wheel is a road

Every man who rides a wheel is a road inspector, and considering the number of people who ride wheels in this county, their vote is a powerful factor in any election. If they stand together as an organization, they will practically control the election of the road commissioners, and are sure to have a hearing in all matters pertaining to good roads.

The committee appointed at the last meeting, consisting of Messrs. W. W. Kingston, B. F. Copeland, J. J. Schafer, W. D. Gash, T. B. Paine and Burton Smith, met on Monday afternoon in the office of Mr. Smith and formulated rules for the club. A list of officers was also nominated to be presented to the meeting today.

Governor Atkinsdin, Mayor King and other prominent men have been invited to make addresses at the meeting today. The association already has several hundred names enrolled, and hopes to increase the number to 2,000. Not only wheelmen, but I who are interested in good roads, are all who are interested in good roads, are invited to attend.

This work which the wheelmen have taken up is one that enlists the sympathy of all classes. Good roads mean much to the bicycler, but more to the farmer. The benefit of a system of perfect roads to Fulton county would be untold. It would enhance the value of every foot of property near which the roads passed, to say nothing of the pleasure that the roads would afford as driveways and cyclo paths. The work which the association has taken up is a most laudable one, and one in which all classes of citizens should take an interest, and to which they should lend a helping hand. Private Spofford Promoted.

Private Frank M. Spofford, of the Barnes-ville Blues, has been promoted to the posi-tion of battalion adjutant of the Fifth res-iment of Georgia Volunteers. Adjutant Spofford was promoted on account of his excellence as a soldier and his thorough knowledge of the duties of his position. His promotion was announced yesterday by Ad-jutant General Kell.

hillips's conduct should call for severe action by Manager owles. At this distance the details could be seen, but the wires say that he used to put on a uniform and go into game. His insubordination figured in game and might have lost it, as it found necessary to put Cross at short, ners, usually, are not good shortstops, and Cross's work was no exception, Columbus has secured Cushman, late of Mobile, to manage that team.

The race in the National League is growing interesting. By the victory yesterday Cincinnati went into first place. Cincinnati, Cleveland, Boston and Pittsburg are close-ly bunched, and the probabilities are that ere will be a general shaking up within TEN INNINGS.

Atlanta Won the Second Game of the Series.

New Orleans, La., May 19 .- (Special.)-The crowd at Sportsman's park today was rather small, owing to the loose game the visitors put up the day previous, but Knowles's men, laboring under great disdvantage, went in to win today and win hey did, after a long and hard struggle of Norton's support was rather poor at times looked these and pitched a winning game, keeping his hits well scattered. Keefe was in no condition to umpire and he managed to make several bad decisions on first favoring the home team. The story of the run-getting is: Vandyke hit to left field and Callahan put him on second with a sacrifice. Nor-ton hit to right field and went to second bese on the throw in. Fields hit to right, scoring both Norton and Vandyke.

New Orleans tied the score in the third inning, after two men were out. Powell got a base on balls, stole second and scored op Huston's hit, he going to second on Wagner's fumble. Knox hit for

New Orleans made two in the sixth, after two men were out. A ground ball got away from Callhan and two runs crossed the rubber. New Orleans scored in the eighth, but Atanta tied it again in their half of the ninth in two hits and an error by Huston. With the game a tie in the ninth, New Orleans failed to score in the next inning and Atlanta won out when Knowles beat out a ball to first. He was advanced to second on a sacrifice hit and went to third on McDade's out, scoring the winning run when Miller lined out a pretty single to left field. BIRMINGHAM SLUGGED HARD And Put Up an Errorless Game in the Field. Mobile, Ala., May 19.—Sueprior batting won the game handily for Birmingham this afternoon, the feature of which was the clean home run hit by Walsh in the fifth ming. Mobile was never in it after their half of the sixth inning, and the boys in blue had the air full of singles, fouibles and tripples during the last three innings of the game.

While Lally gave the home team the best of his decisions, he was hooted by the rowd and showed plainly that he does not inderstand the game. He allowed the first wrangling that has taken place on the new diamond and the spectators were disgusted with him and sighed to have Keefe back. Mobile

WAS A THRILLING SCENE.

How the Horses Were Liberated in the Big Fire of Sunday Night. As an echo of Sunday night's fire, the story of the horses of the burned livery stables, how they behaved in the face of the flames and how many of them were saved by the heroic work of Watchman Davis, of the Palace stables, is interesting and thrilling.

Davis has made the hourly rounds of the stables every night for months. He had become attached to every horse under his watchful eye, and their friendly neighs were as familiar to him as the voices of his own family. The first Davis knew of the fire was when it burst through the thin wooden partition in the rear of the stables. In an instant every horse was plunging madly in frantic efforts to break plunging madly in frantic efforts to break the halter, and Davis realized that he had dangerous work before him.

Throwing down he lantern he rushed to the front entrance of the stables, opened the big doors on Loyd street, and then back again amongst his terrified brute compan-ions. His especial favorite was a fine trot-ter, owned by L. H. Hall, Jr., and this horse was released first. A slap from Davis sent the swift animal down the long hall. ter, owned by L. H. Hall, Jr., and this horse was released first. A slap from Davis sent the swift animal down the long hall-way of the stable and his clattering hoof-beats resounded on the paved street as he fled madly down Wall and into Peachtree. He was captured early Monday far out Peachtree road. Davis next turned his attention to the stall horses and with three strokes of his knife he liberated the three big gray hearse norses of Swift & Co. In a bunch they ran down Loyd and were turned into Walker's stables.

Next was Mr. Pace's mare, but she turned into the flames instead of the street and perished in an instant.

The uproar was now frightful, for the cries and plunging of a hundred horses rose above the crackling of the flames. Not a soul had yet arrived, to aid him, yet Davis went down the Line of stalls unflinchingly. A word to this horse and pat for that; a slash at the halter with his knife and away they went. In their mad fright-the poor beasts seemed to understand their human friend, for in nearly, every instance a word from him quieted the animals down sufficiently for a quick stroke at the halters. The streets of the city were soon filled with flying, terrified horses-singly, in pairs and in groups.

Davis worked till the north wall fell in and then the firemen came and forced him out of the building. The last horse released had inhaled the flames from the burning hay in his rack and was unable to reach the center of the floor.

It was an exciting scene.

A NEW SYNAGOGUE.

HEBREWS OF ATLANTA TO HAVE ANOTHER HOUSE OF WORSHIP.

Advisory Committee Has the Question in Hand and Will Soon Act. New Baptist Church.

The movement among the Hebrews to build a magnificent temple of worship in Atlanta is under strong headway and the probabilities are that within a few months the handsomest synagogue in the south will be erected here.

The committee, composed of Hon. loseph Hirsch, chairman; Mr. Max Kutz, Mr. Abe Bluthenthal, Mr. I. Liebman, Jr., and Mr. S. Landauer, is hard at work on the subscription lists and before the week is out will no doubt report a favorable feeling among the members of the church in regard to the change in the house of

The present synagogue is entirely inade quate to the demands made upon its ca-pacity for seating the members and the steady growth of the membership lists has rendered a new edifice a necessity. The offer made by the Central Baptist church to purchase the site now owend by the synagogue leaves no doubt that the change will be made. The offer for the old site is $12,000 and the committee having the matter in charge is to make answer to the proposal by June 1st. The price is considered a fair one and if the deal is onsummated Atlanta will be richer by two churches of surpassing beauty and granduer, for it is the intention of the Central Baptist church to build a magnificent structure also. The site of the new synagogue will be on the south side, that being the resi-dence of the majority of the Hebrew population. The exact location has not been dectora upon, as the committee is still working upon the lists of subscrip-tion. It is understood that it will be be-tween Pryor street and Capitol avenue, very probably on Washington. The Hebrews are enthusiastic upon the subject of the new church and their liberality in supporting religious enter-subject of the new church and their liberality in supporting religious enterprises is so well known that a successful termination of the movement now on foot is almost assured. Mr. Jacob Haas, when seen yesterday morning in regard to the movement, said:

"We are in need of a new house of worship and our committee is working now fowards securing the consent of the congregation. We will have the money raised before we start a new church, but as we have several advantageous offers of real estate and are offered a fair price for our old site, I think it will be little trouble for us to raise the necessary amount."

Hon. Joseph Hirsch spoke in the same line; also did Mr. Max Kutz and other prominent members of the Jewish congregation.

Meanwhile the movement is well under way the able committee is hard at work and the prospect of Atlanta being enriched by the acquisition of the two new and imposing at fices is good.

The Central Baptist people are waiting to hear from their proposal before moving in the matter of their new church.

Hebrews Celebrate Their Annual Feast in an Elaborate Manner.

The feast of Pentecost, observed by the Hebrews in all parts of the world, was selebrated in Atlanta in a manner which tokens the zeal and fervor of the local Hebrews in their religious beliefs.

Duke of Orleans's Candidacy. Paris, May 19.—The royalist press publishes articles expressing approval of the letter written by the duke of Orleans, in which he combats the objections of the royalist committee to his becoming a candidate for a seat in the chamber of deputies and repudiates distrust of universal suffrage. The Figaro expresses doubt that the duke would be successful should he become a candidate.

The radical journals ridicule the letter, characterizing it as a bit of gratuitous self-advertising. The republican newspapers declare that they have no fear for the future of the republic.

At the first trial given Howlsworth, the evidence of witnesses showed that Johnson was returning home after his day's work, when he overheard a quarrel between negro man and woman. Johnson saw the woman was in danger of being beaten, and he ordered the man to desist. The mar picked up a brick and threw it at Johnson with fearful force, crushing in his skull.

What Is the Fate of Hanve? The case of Arthur Hayne is now pend ing in the supreme court, where it was appealed by the attorney of the young nan.

A decision will probably be reached by the 30th, and then the fate of Hanve, the slayer of his life long friend, will be known.
Hanye is at present under sentence of death, but the execution has been staid by Judge Candler until action can be taken by the supreme court. If that court sees fit to accord the murderer another trial, his case will be tried again in the criminal superior court. If, on the other hand, a new trial is denied, the death sentence will become effective and an early date will set for the execution. "I am honful however of success" said Attorney Austin yesterday, "and I believe we will secure a new trial for the boy. When the case was called in the superior court I made a motion for continuance of the ground that I was ill and could not enter into a trial. This motion was overruled and the case was started while I was

"There is something pathetic about the case of Hayne, as he and Spinks had been friends for life and were bosom companions. Hayne says he did not strike the blow that resulted in death, but that it was received in the fall to the floor. The boy himself is hopeful and seems greatly encouraged."

Sixteen beautiful lots on the above named streets, all fine size, are just nice distance from center of city: have exceptionally fine car line facilities, splendid neighborhood, paved streets, water, gas and sewers, lie finely and all have alleys in the rear. The large and representative crowd who attended the sale on May 14th and who so rapidly bought up every lot that was offered was sufficient proof to convince any one of how desirable and attractive all of these lots are. A number of nice, new residences are to be built on the lots recently sold, which will very much enhance the value of the remaining lots. All the remaining lots are still offered for sale at exceedingly reasonable prices and on easy terms. Sale is by order of court to pay off indebtedness against the company. Bruce Wants a New Trial.

Will Bruce is anxiously awaiting the decision of the supreme court in regard to his application for a new trial, which is now pending before that body.

Bruce is now under a life sentence for the murder of Early Beatty, and Adolphus Badger, his accomplice, is serving an eight years' sentence in the penitentiary.

The attorneys of Bruce were of the opinion that a sentence of life was a little severe upon the negro, as all of the parties were enjoying a Fourth of July celebration and all were drinking. The verdict of the lower court was appealed with the hope that another trial could be secured.

The supreme court will probably take action in a few days, and its decision will be rendered in time for the case to come up before the next term of court in the event a new trial is granted.

Western and Atlantic Railroad Company v. Voils. Before Judge Akin. City court of Cartersville.

Simmons, C. J.—l. A writ of error to the supreme court lies from the "city court of Bartow," established "in the city of Carswille, in the county of Bartow," by the act of October 10, 1885. Although this act does not itself provide for such writ of error, it may be sued out by virtue of section 4266 of the code, which was enacted for the purpose of carrying out paragraph 5 of section 2, article 6, of the constitution, (Code, section 5133.)

2. A person going to a flag station on a railroad at which there is no ticket office, for the purpose of boarding a train, is upon properly signifying an intention to get upon a passenger train which has actually stopped, entitled to the rights of a passenger.

3. Where a train stopped at such a station and after an employe thereon had assisted some passengers to alight, started to move on, and the plaintiff then informed this employe of her desire to get aboard, and he thereupon signaled to the engineer to stop the train, which was done, the train stopping at a low place where it was difficult to mount the platform steps, and the employe then undertook to assist the plaintiff to get upon the train, it was, under these circumstances, a question for the jury whether or not the employe in so doing was acting within the scope of his duty.

4. Upon the assumption that he was so acting, the company was liable for injuries received by the plaintiff on account of a fall occasioned by the employe's negligence in rendering the assistance mentioned.

5. There was evidence to warrant the jury finding that the defendance account to the second of the control of the second of the control of

There was evidence to warrant the jury in finding that the defendant's servant was acting in the line of his duty in assisting the plaintiff to board the train, and that his negligence caused her injuries; and though the evidence as a whole does not make a strong case against the company, this being the second verdict in her favor, and the trial judge having refused to set it aside, this court will not interfere. Before Judge Harris. City court of Floyd county.

Simmons, C. J.—It being stipulated in a policy of fire insurance issued to a woman, covering a building described in the policy as "her one-story, frame, shingle roof dwelling," that the policy be void "if the interest of the insured in the property be not truly stated therein," or "if the interest of the insured be other than unconditional and sole ownership," it was error, upon the trial of an action brought upon the trial of an action brought upon the policy by the insured, to reject a plea, offered in due time, alleging that when the policy was issued, the plaintiff was not the owner of the property, because she had previously conveyed the same to another by a fee simple deed, and that if the defendant had known this fact, it would not have issued the policy. This is true although the deed in question may have been made to secure a debt, its effect being to pass the title.

North Carolina Crop Bulletin.

Raleigh, N. C., May 19.—(Special.)—The state weekly crop bulletin issued yesterday says the conditions continue unfavorable on account of drought now prevailing nearly everywhere and becoming serious. The weather is intensely warm—maximum %, and the mean 13 degrees daily above normal. There was an excess of sunshine. Wheat and oats are suffering most severely. Also late planted corn and cotton, though the bulk of the corn and cotton crop is doing remarkably well. Some corn is dying in stiff land. Tobacco transplanting is greatly hindered. Trees are shedding fruit more than usual. ruit more than usual.

Fate of the Exposition Buildings Seems Pinally Settled.

CAN THE CITY GO FURTHER

City Attorney Anderson Has a Word To Say in Addition to His Recent Decision.

The fate of the exposition buildings is still a matter of conjecture, but the continuance of the special committee of the city council shows that the city still has hopes of securing the property in some way. Unless action is taken in a day or two however, the buildings will be again advertised for sale by the bondholders and given over to some wrecking company. The action of the city practically leaves the matter where it was before the council passed the ordinance to purchase. Another arrangement will have to be made. Wheth er this can be done legally or not is the question which stands in the way. The failure of the city to take up the proposition which was killed by the mayor's veto was due to the illegality of procedure as expressed in the decision of the city attorney. The ordinance was passed up by the aldermanic board, which approved upo the condition that the purchase was legal.

It was just on this point that the city attorney rendered his decision, which finally determined the fate of the ordinance. Up attorney rendered his decision, which finally determined the fate of the ordinance. Upon this the city attorney said:

"In answer to the inquiry as to whether the proposed trade is a legal one, we have to state that in our opinion it is not a legal one in its present shape. We think that the board of aldermen cannot concur in an action of the council conditionally, as said board attempted to do in this case. It is the duty of the board to take definite action, either concurring or non-concurring in any measure passed by the council which comes to the board for separate action. It is proper for the board, of course, to consider of the legality of the proposed action in determining whether it will be concurred in or not. To this end they may examine the charter, consider the objects of the proposed action, take the opinion of counsel and get from all accessible sources whatever light they can as to the legality and propriety of the proposed action, but when the board comes to act they should act definitely and either concur or non-concur in the proposed action, and this has not been done in the present case. Back of that, there is this difficulty: The action of the council itself is a provisional one. The report of the committee which was adopted by the council is in such form as to make the purchase of the buildings and lease of the grounds contingent upon the raising of $7.500 in addition to the amount to be paid the purchase of the buildings and lease of the grounds contingent upon the raising of $7,500 in addition to the amount to be paid by the city through means of private subscription by citizens. In other words, the action of the council does not amount to the making of a lease contract or of a contract for the purchase of the buildings, but amounts to a mere offer to trade for the buildings and the lease of the grounds on the happening of the contingent event named."

What the City Can Do Further. Upon this Attorney Anderson was seen resterday. He was asked if it was possible for the city to negotiate in any way that would be legal to secure the buildings and grounds. "It is my opinion," he said, "as I stated in the first decision, that the city can pur chase the buildings and lease the grounds only upon the condition that the grounds shall be used for municipal purposes."

As to what he meant by "municipal purposes" the city attorney said:

"Well, if it was bought for some special purpose to be used by the city as a park or cemetery or something like that, then i would be a municipal purpose. I do not think that the city could purchase and hold simply for the purpose of using the grounds hereafter as an exposition site."

He was asked if the holding of an expostiton was not a municipal purpose.
"Well, in the broad acceptation of the term it might be, but it would be straining with this statement of the city attorney in view, in spite of the fact that the special committee of council has been continued, it appears that the city cannot purchase except to turn the grounds into a cemetery or a park. Thus the matter stands.

Cancels Their Subscriptions. The action of the council cancels the sub-scriptions made by those who assisted in raising the $7,500, which was the price asked for the buildings by the bondholders.

Mr. Parrott and Mr. Jam's Spalding both are of the opinion that the buildings will be soon sold just as was the original plan, to the highest bidder. In a day or two the bondholders will meet and the sale will be brought up again.

What Chairman Dimmock Says. Chairman Dimmock, of the special committee, was seen yesterday. "I have no plan," he said. "I simply asked for a continuance of the committee thinking that something might develop that would lead the city to get control of the grounds."

"I shall consult with the other members "I shall consult with the other memoers of the committee and we will no doubt make a proposition to the members of the board of county commissioners. I think that they should aid us and that the matter could be finally arranged with them."

In the meantime arrangements will be made by the bondholders to sell the buildings early. ings again.

Mrs. Evans Says Her Husband Attempted to Kill Her.

SHE WAS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Mrs. Irby Charged Her Husband with Deserting Her and She Got a Total Divorce Yesterday.

After a wedded life of more than twenty years, Mrs. N. E. Evans appeared in the court yesterday to testify to the cruel treatment she has received at the hands of her husband, who is now a fugitive from justice.

The story told by the injured wife was replete with pathos and the jury rendered a first verdict, granting her a total divorce without leaving the jury box. Mrs. Evans was married on December 29, 1871, to a man named Levi Evans, who was at that time well thought pleasant and the couple were happy in each other's love. Though not luxuriously furnished, their humble cottage was home, and the storm cloud passed them by for years. Three bright little children blessed the hearthstone and all went well and

But the years passed swiftly. Strong drink mastered the husband and father and the light of the little cottage went out. Evans began to drink heavily and would return at night and abuse and mistreat his wife. Mrs. Evans says she pleaded with him to leave the wine cup untouched, but her words were not heeded.

Finally his conduct became unbearable, she says, and she determined to leave him. While he was absent from the house she gathered together her effects and was packing her trunk when he returned. She packing her trunk when he returned. She said he was wild with anger and thoroughly frightened her by his conduct. Suddenly he pulled a revolver, and, taking deliberate aim, ared a ball through her bosom, she asserts.

The neighbors rushed in and rescued her, while her husband was carried away by the crowds. Lynching was threatened at the time, but he was placed in jail and inally sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, from which place he escaped a short time afterwards and has since been at liberty.

Mrs. Evans was badly wounded and for a time her life was despaired of, but she a time her life was despaired of, but she finally recovered. The second verdict will be taken at the next term of the court and the marriage vows will then be declared void by the law.

Eays His Vows Were Soon Broken. Mrs. Julia Irby, the wife of George H. Irby and the mother of five children, was given a total diverce in the superior court yesterday on the grounds that her husband was not loyal to his marriage vows.

The case has been pending in the courts for several months, as it was filed early last year.

for several months, as it was med early last year.

The petition stated that the marriage occurred many years ago and shortly after the vows were said, her husband sent her and her family to the hone of her father and that he was won by the infatuation and that he was won by the infatuation of other women.

Mrs. Irby says he has contributed only a small an ount toward the support of her family and that she has been neglected.

Her husband entered a plea denying that he was not faithful, saying that he had lest his business and was not able to support her as he desired.

TO FIND A PASTOR. First Baptist Church Committee Meets Tomorrow.

The committee of lifty appointed by the members of the First Baptist church to select a new pastor to fill Dr. Hawthorne's pulpit will meet next Friday night at the church. This is the third meeting of the committhe and as yet no pastor has been selected. The committee is composed of some of the ablest members of the church and they are going about selecting a pastor in a very deliberate way. When a pastor is finally selected there is no doubt that he ally selected there is no doubt that he loe the best obtainable. It is not at all likely that the committee liselet a pastor next Friday night. They I discuss those they have heard preach lithe ideas of every member will be and the ideas of every member will be heard.

When the committee agree that a certain minister will be the best man for the place they will recommend him to the congregation. The congregation will then be called for a conference meeting by the chairman of the board of deacons. At the conference it will either be decided to take the man recommended or it will be decided to hear him preach. Whatever steps are taken the man selected will be corresponded with and asked to accept the place. If he accepts, then without further preliminaries the First Baptist church will have a pastor.

Leo Wheat's Recital.

The excursion and concert Friday night at Cox's college by the southern pianist and organist, Mr. Leo Wheat, for the benefit of the Battle Abbey Associa-tion is arousing much interest, and many of the leading people are going out on the excursion train to hear the marvelous music of this gifted son of the south. This will undoubtedly be one of the rarest treats of the season.

TEMPLE MAY GO UP.

MASONS MAY DECIDE TONIGHT TO ERECT ONE.

Stockholders of the Company Will Meet This Evening To Consider Plans.

The stockholders of the Atlanta Masonic Temple Company meet tonight at the city hall at 8 o'clock and will in all probability decide to erect a ten-story steel building at the corner of Pryor street and Aubur

For some time the company has been thinking of erecting a building and tonight the matter will be definitely decided, Plans have already been drawn for the Plans have already been drawn for the building and they will be presented to the stockholders' tonight. The building will be ten stories high, fire-proof and steel and will cost $200,000 if built by the plans. When completed the building, if built as expected, will be one of the handsomest in the city and will tower many feet above those surrounding if hose surrounding it.

The company has enough money to pur-chase the lot on which to place the build-ing and the obtaining of the deeds is only a matter of time. The site of the building is one of the prettiest and most advantageous in the city.

The plans already drawn off may no be used and others for a building of larger dimensions but not so high may be sub-stituted. Some kind of a building will certainly be erected and it is most likely that it will be a ten-story, fire-proof building.

WHERE SHALL WE SPEND THE SUMMER?

Lookout Inn, Lookout Mountain, Tenn. the Palace Hotel of the South

Offers inducements superior to any other resort in the south. Here the atmosphere is always cool and clear. The nights are perfect. There are no mosquitoes and malaria is absolutely unknown. The scenery is the finest in the world, so pronounced by the historian Bancroft, the great traveler Stanley and a host of others. Lookout Inn is a beautiful gem of architecture, built of the famous old red sand stone and wood; finished in the interior throughout in quartered oak, and decorated by some of the best known artists of the country at enormous expense. The water used on the tables is from the celebrated Leonora Spring, the purest in the world. This historic resort promises to be unusually brilliant this season. Write for circulars and terms to M.
